This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

The William Salt Archæological Society.

VOLUME VIII. NEW SERIES.

"And in this undertaking, the Reader may see what Furniture (though it lie disperst) our Publick Records will afford for History: and how plentifully our own may be supplied and improved, if pains were taken therein: for what is hitherto made publick, hath been collected, chiefly out of old Annals, and they filled with few things but such as were very obvious, nay the Annalists themselves (for the most part residing in Monasteries) too oftened byass'd with Interest, and Affection, to Times and Persons: But on the contrary, in our publick Records lye matter of Fact, in full Truth, and therewith the Chronological part, carried on, even to days of the Month. So that an industrious Searcher may thence collect considerable matter for new History, rectifie many mistakes in our old and in both gratifie the world with unshadowed verity."—(ASHMOLE'S History of the Garter.)

The William Salt Archæological Society.

GENERAL MEETING, 8TH NOVEMBER, 1904.

THE Twenty-sixth Annual Meeting of the Society was held on the 8th of November, 1904, at the William Salt Library, Stafford. The Chair was occupied by the President, Lord Wrottesley, and the following members and friends of the Society were present:—Sir Charles Wolseley, Sir Reginald Hardy, the Ven. Archdeacon Lane, the Rev. E. Collett, the Rev. S. W. Hutchinson, the Rev. S. Lees, Rev. F. P. Parker, the Rev. E. Salt, the Rev. R. A. Wilson, the Rev. F. J. Wrottesley, and Messrs. S. B. Bamford, W. S. Brough, W. F. Carter, G. Gill, W. R. Holland, N. Joyce, W. N. Landor, J. E. Mitchell, Major-General the Hon. G. Wrottesley, the Honorary Secretary, and Mr. J. W. Bradley, the Assistant Secretary.

The Report of the Assistant Secretary was read as follows:—

The Society has lost no fewer than twelve members during the past year, five by death and seven by withdrawal. The members who have died are:—

Sir Thomas Salt.
Sir Albert W. Woods, Garter King of Arms.
Lieutenant-Colonel Gould Hunter-Weston.
The Rev. J. G. Cotton-Browne.
Mr. F. W. Mills.

The seven withdrawals are:—

Major Wise.
Captain Robert P. Walker.
Mr. Reginald Boucher.
The Hon. A. Percy Allsopp.
Mr. W. Essington Hughes.
Mr. W. P. Robinson.
The Rev. G. S. Tyack.

Against this list of losses, we have to record that Sir Thomas A. Salt succeeds his late father in his membership. Miss Burne has resumed her connection with the Society after a lapse of three years, and has paid for the arrears created by her withdrawal as well as this year's subscription. Mr. W. F. Carter, who withdrew in 1902, has requested to be re-instated, and secured the volumes issued since his withdrawal.

In addition to these the following new members have joined the Society :—

The Hon. H. Burke, Wootton, Ellaston, Ashbourne.
Mr. A. Freeland, Ashbourne Green Hall.
Mrs. B. C. P. Heywood, Wootton Lodge, Ellaston.
Mr. Geoffrey L. Mander, Wightwick Manor, Wolverhampton.
Mr. John E. Mitchell, Finwood, Rowington, Warwick.
Mr. John H. White, 175, High Street, Camden Town, N.W.

The Longton Free Library has also become a subscriber and has bought several back volumes.

These new members nearly balance the losses of the year, the net loss being five members only.

The financial position of the Society is satisfactory, the balance in the bank on October 15th being £108. At the same period last year it was £110. Five subscribers have continued their voluntary extra half guinea subscription, making the total from this source £101 16*s.* 6*d.*

The Report of the Editorial Committee was read by the Honorary Secretary as follows:—

The Editorial Committee submit a report and balance sheet for the past year. Volume VII, New Series, was issued to the Subscribers in July, 1904, and another Volume for 1905 is now in the press. The new Volume will contain the Register of Bishop Stretton, who was Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry between the years 1360–1385. It has been abstracted into English by the Rev. R. A. Wilson from the original Record at Lichfield.

After it had been decided at the last meeting of the Society to print the Episcopal Registers as a continuous series, a letter was sent, at the suggestion of the Bishop of Lichfield, addressed to the Secretary of the Canterbury and York Society, which had been formed for the printing of the same Records, proposing that the two Societies should co-operate in the work. This letter was laid before the Committee of the Canterbury and York Society, but it appeared that the latter Society had decided to print the Registers in the original Latin text; as Mr. Wilson's abstracts were in English, any idea of co-operation between the two Societies had to be abandoned. The ancient diocese, however, comprised all Derbyshire and Cheshire, and parts of Warwickshire and Lancashire in addition to the present diocese. It was therefore considered advisable to issue a circular to the clergy and laity of the districts comprised within the limits of the old diocese drawing their attention to the proposed scheme; and the following memorandum was accordingly drawn up and sent to all the beneficed clergy and justices of the peace within the above limits.

THE EPISCOPAL REGISTERS AT LICHFIELD.

The William Salt Archæological Society, which was founded in 1879, has for nearly a quarter of a century issued annual Volumes bearing upon the History of the County of Stafford. It is now proposed, with the permission of the Lord Bishop of Lichfield, to print English abstracts of the Episcopal Registers at Lichfield in a continuous series, of which the first Volume will be issued about the middle of 1905.

The Bishops' Registers begin between six and seven centuries ago, and contain not only the names of the clergy presented to the various benefices, but many matters illustrative of the Canon Law, church services, and the manners and customs of the times. In the licences for oratories and chapels, the ownership of many manors is incidentally shown, and in the Ordination Lists and Institutions will be found the patronage and tenure of the various benefices within the diocese.

The form in which the Registers will be issued is an English abstract of the Latin original, the degree of condensation depending upon the nature of the entry, but in no case will any fact or name of person or place be intentionally omitted. The Volumes, of not less than 300 pages, will be fully indexed, and will form a complete directory to the originals at Lichfield.

The Diocese in the middle ages consisted of all Derbyshire, Staffordshire, and Cheshire, part of Shropshire (the Archdeaconry of Salop and the Deanery of Bridgenorth), Warwickshire (the Archdeaconries of Coventry and Birmingham), and Lancashire (south of the Ribble).

In order to afford those who are interested in the parishes of the former Diocese outside the County of Stafford, an opportunity of procuring the records relating to their counties and parishes, the William Salt Society will publish their abstracts of the Lichfield Diocesan Registers in a separate form, to be issued at the rate probably of one Volume in two years. The price of each Volume will depend on the number of Subscribers, but will not, in any case, exceed half-a-guinea, to be paid when the Volume is issued. It is proposed that these Volumes shall form the ordinary issue for the year to the present members of the Society, while the Volumes containing the Diocesan Registers alone will be issued to the special Subscribers. The Volume which it is proposed to issue next year is the Register of Bishop Robert de Stretton (1360–1385). The English abstract of this has been made by the Rev. R. A. Wilson, the Vicar of Hints, near Tamworth.

If you should desire to subscribe to this undertaking, the Committee of the William Salt Society would be much obliged by your signing the enclosed form and transmitting it to the Assistant Secretary, at the William Salt Library, Stafford.

(Signed) GEORGE WROTTESLEY,
MAJOR-GENERAL, Hon. Secretary.

The response to this circular has not been encouraging, for although over 2,000 circulars were posted, less than fifty answers have been received, notifying a wish to subscribe to the undertaking. The price named for each Volume, viz. half-a-guinea, was decided upon, on the advice of several of the clergy, who represented that the parochial clergy, with their small incomes, would not be likely to subscribe to a Volume of larger price, but the limit thus placed on the cost of the Volume will produce an anomaly at first sight, as the old subscribers will pay a guinea for the same Volume. It should, however, be borne in mind that the Society would have been bound under any circumstances to take advantage of the opportunity of printing these records, which have been hitherto unattainable owing to the difficulty of obtaining accurate copies or abstracts of documents of this description, whilst the subscriptions of the new members will more than cover the cost of the additional Volumes.

The Committee has also to report that the Rev. William Beresford has found an ancient copy of the Chartulary of Dieulacres Abbey in the possession of Mr. Arthur Parker of Leek. The Chartulary is a copy made by Benjamin Rudyerd in the reign of Charles I., and was discovered at Shirburn Castle amongst the Parker muniments. Lady Macclesfield sent it to her grandson, Mr. Arthur Parker, and the latter has very kindly lent it to the Committee to be printed by the Society. The Honorary Secretary is now engaged in taking a copy of it.

The Society has to deplore the loss of Sir Thomas Salt, who has served on the Committee for many years, who took an unfailing interest in their work, and to whom the Committee has been often indebted for useful advice.

Lord Wrottesley moved that the Report be adopted, and this was carried unanimously.

It was suggested that the Bishops' Registers should be issued in separate volumes and not mixed up with the lay records of the County or other miscellaneous matters, and it was explained that this was the intention of the Committee.

Mr. Brough asked for information respecting the Dieulacres Chartulary and where the interest of it lay. The answer was the great antiquity of its contents, that the interest of it was in fact similar in kind to that of the Burton Chartulary and other monastic documents which had been previously printed by the Society.

The Chairman proposed that Sir T. A. Salt be elected a member of the Committee in place of his late father. This was seconded by Archdeacon Lane and carried unanimously.

It was announced that the Thoresby Society were willing to make an exchange of their Proceedings with the Society. This was approved subject to the consent of the Trustees of the Library.*

Major-General Wrottesley, observing that many of the Trustees of the Library were present, asked whether the copy of the Liber Albus, the earliest of the Bishops' Registers now in the Library, could be lent to the Committee for printing. The Trustees who were present were of opinion that it could be lent for that purpose and they would bring the matter before the next meeting of the Library Trustees.† Mr. Holland remarked that another copy of the book would have to be made, as the printer could not use it in its present form without defacing it. It was agreed that this would be necessary.

Archdeacon Lane proposed that the thanks of the meeting be given to the Chairman and the Honorary Secretary. This was carried unanimously, and after a brief reply from Lord Wrottesley the meeting separated.

* This has been since obtained.

† An answer has since been received in the affirmative and the book is now in the custody of the Rev. R. A. Wilson, the Vicar of Hints.

PREFACE.

THIS volume is the first-fruits of a design for the calendaring or indexing of the Episcopal Registers of the see of Lichfield. When I began to work upon a Register, a summary of the contents seemed necessary, as a first step towards either index or calendar. At the Bishop's request communications were established with the Editorial Committee of the William Salt Historical Society, who readily undertook to publish records which have so important a bearing on the history of the county. To be relieved of the making of indices, and thus to have the work so greatly expedited, was a great gain, and I gladly placed the results of my work at the Society's disposal.

The choice of the fifth register, for publication first, needs explanation. It was known that the late Bishop Hobhouse had been at work on the earlier registers, but how much he had done could not be ascertained without some delay. To have attempted work already accomplished by him would have been more than folly. A register was therefore chosen which he was known not to have touched. It is a matter for deep regret that his MS. of Register No. 2 seems lost beyond hope of recovery, and that it must now be done by inferior hands, whosesoever they are.

I fear that the absence of institutions[1] may cause some disappointment; and I regret that it has been impossible to include them in this volume. They are in a book by themselves, and are now being prepared for publication in the next issue.

As to the form chosen. An English abstract is not the ideal: but it has its advantages. Many entries in the original are wearisomely prolix, and contain much that does not repay the labour of reading. Others have the same facts repeated several times in the various documents of which they are made up. It is in such entries that the utility of an abstract is most evident. In entries which do not admit of much condensation, the abstract becomes almost a translation, and the gain by condensation is small, while the opportunity for error is greater than in a transcript.

I should like to warn readers against over-confidence in the correctness of everything in the abstract. Those who are familiar with mediæval MSS. will not need any warning; but for the benefit of others, I would explain that not only are contractions freely used, and that not absolutely according to a definite rule, but also there is no difference in the form of the strokes which make up the letters i, m, n, u, and v, and the form of c and t are identical. In the case of words the sense will generally indicate the interpretation, but, in the names of persons and places, nothing but a knowledge of what the name really is can ensure correctness. I mention these things, not so much by way of apology, as in the hope that the remembrance of them may lead readers to detect for themselves the true form underlying my errors. I should be glad to have pointed out to me any errors which may be discovered, as well as identifications of difficult place-names, so that what is amiss may be set right in future.

In the Introduction I have given a life of the Bishop, for which I am indebted, almost entirely, to the Dictionary of National Biography, and a short account of some mediæval usages illustrated by the register. The Appendix of Religious Houses, though not so perfect as I could wish, will be found useful for identifying places mentioned, under various spellings, in the Ordination Lists.

The Index contains, I believe, every place occurring in the body of the register. It seemed inexpedient to cumber it with all the names in the Ordination Lists, and only the benefices have been included. The bishops who ordained, and the places where ordinations were held, will be found on pages vii. and xiii. of the Introduction.

In conclusion, I wish to express my thanks for much kindness and help: especially to the present occupant of the see, who has encouraged and promoted this attempt to disclose the acts of his predecessors; to the Registrar of the diocese for his courtesy in making access to the originals so easy; to General the Hon. George Wrottesley, who has looked through the proof-sheets and given me the benefit of his great knowledge of local history; and to the Rev. F. P. Parker for much assistance in many matters.

I. Robert de Stretton, son of Robert Eyryk and Joanna his wife, was born at Stretton Magna in Leicestershire. His elder brother was Sir William Eyryk, from whom are descended the Heyricks of Leicestershire.

[1] The Bishops of Mercia are included in this reckoning.
[2] Antipope, not recognized by the Church of England.
[3] The Deans appear to have been for the most part non-resident.
[4] The titles are left in the adjectival form.
[5] Of doubtful authenticity.

Having taken Orders, he became Chaplain to the Black Prince, to whose influence he appears to have owed his advancement. The following table shows the preferment obtained by him :—[1]

Before 1343. Rectory of Wykyngeston, dio. Lincoln. [? Wigston, co. Leicester.]
1343. Canonry in Chichester Cathedral.
Prebend in S. Paul's Cathedral.
Prebend in Lichfield Cathedral.
Before 1351 (October). A king's clerk.
Before 1353. Prebend in the Collegiate Church of Gnowsale [Gnossal].
1353. Canonry of S. Cross in Lincoln Cathedral.
1354. Rectory of Llanpadern Vawr, dio. S. David.[2]
1358 (December 14th.) Prebend of Pipa Parva in Lichfield Cathedral.

On January 1st, 1358–9, Edward III, at the request of the Black Prince, nominated him to the see of Lichfield, vacant by the death of Roger de Northburgh. Archbishop Islip refused to consecrate him, on the ground of his lack of learning, and Pope Innocent VI, to whom he went to be examined, upheld the Archbishop's decision. The King would not give way, and the see remained vacant, the temporalities being in the King's hands. The Black Prince moved the Pope to refer the matter back to the Archbishop, who again examined Robert, and again rejected him. Finally, seeing no better way out of the difficulty, the Pope issued a Bull of Provision (22nd April, 1360), allowing Robert's election, and directing the Archbishop to consecrate him without examination. On September 26th, 1360, Robert's election was confirmed, and a commission issued to the Bishops of London and Rochester to consecrate, which they reluctantly did on the following day. The temporalities of the see had been restored on September 19th, and on February 6th, 1360–1, Robert de

[1] The statement that Robert de Stretton was a Doctor of Laws and Auditor of the Rota in the Papal Curia is no doubt due to confusion with another Robert de Stretton, whom he appointed his Proctor at the Papal Curia in 1364, and who was Archdeacon of Derby in 1367.

[2] The Church of Llanbadarn Fawr was, on its vacation by Robert de Stretton, appropriated to Vale Royal Abbey. The appropriation was confirmed by the Pope Id. Nov. 1362.

Stretton made profession of canonical obedience to the Archbishop at Lambeth, another reading his profession because he himself was not able to read.[1]

Although no scholar, he evidently had qualities which recommended him to the King, and the Black Prince. The Popes regarded him as a man of influence, for in 1355 he was instructed to assist the Papal Nuncio in preventing hostilities between England and France, and again, in August 1371, he was requested to procure from the King a safe-conduct to England for Cardinals Simon and John.

Much of his Episcopal work was done by assistant bishops. He did not administer Orders in person after Lent 1368; and in one case he made an unfortunate choice of an assistant bishop; for a doubt arose as to the regularity of his consecration, and, as no proof was forthcoming, the men who had received Orders at his hands were recalled and conditionally reordained. He would appear to have resided for the most part within his diocese, chiefly at his manor of Heywood in Staffordshire.

He founded Chantries at Stretton Magna, and at Stretton on Dunsmore, and renovated the shrine of S. Chad in the Lady Chapel of Lichfield Cathedral.

On September 7th, 1381, having become infirm and blind, he was ordered by the Chapter of Canterbury to appoint a coadjutor within 10 days.

He died at Heywood, March 28th, 1385, and was buried in Lichfield Cathedral on the north side of the shrine of S. Chad.[2] His will, dated March 19th, 1384–5, was proved at Lambeth, April 10th (Regr. of Archbp. Courtenay).

II. THE DIOCESE of Coventry and Lichfield included within its bounds the whole of the counties of Chester, Derby, and Stafford, parts of the counties of Lancaster (all south of the Ribble), Salop (the Archdeaconry of Salop and the Deanery of Bridgnorth), Warwick (the Archdeaconries of Coventry and Birmingham), and Flint (the detached portion).

[1] Alio professionem legente quod ipse legere non posset (Register of Archbishop of Canterbury). It is possible that both his lack of scholarship and his inability to read may have been due to defective sight: he had become blind by 1381.

[2] An altar tomb, shown in Shaw's Staffordshire, Vol. I, plate 23, and there called Bishop Blith's, was probably his. In the same volume is an illustration of his seal.

The number of Episcopal jurisdictions within this area at the present time is nine, viz., Lichfield, Chester, and Liverpool, the whole; Birmingham, nearly all; Manchester, the larger half; Southwell, half; Worcester, about a third; Hereford and S. Asaph, one deanery.

The Dioceses then adjoining were York (in respect of N. Lancashire, York, and Notts.), Lincoln (in respect of Leicester, Northants, and Oxford), Worcester (in respect of S.W. Warwick and Worcester), Hereford (in respect of S. Shropshire), and S. Asaph (in respect of Montgomery, Denbigh, and Flint).

The Diocese was divided into five Archdeaconries, Chester, Coventry, Derby, Salop, and Stafford.

The population of the diocese was by estimation about a twentieth of that now contained in the same area, but the proportion of clergy to laity was much greater than it is now. It is impossible to say what the number of clergy was, but the Ordination Lists furnish data for a rough comparison. During the 24¼ years of Bishop Stretton's Episcopate the average number of men ordained Deacons was 97; of these 21 were regulars, and though the Friars did a certain amount of ministerial work as preachers and confessors, they were not parochial clergy and ought perhaps to be left out of account. A yearly average of 76 secular Deacons remains.[1] During the 25 years from 1873 to 1897 the average number of Deacons ordained was 171.[2] Allowing a margin in consideration of visits of the Black Death, it would appear that the actual number of clergy[3] may be from two and a half to three times greater than it was in Bishop Stretton's time, but that the relative number in proportion to the population is eight or nine times less.

The income of the see was about £330 per annum,[4] a sum

[1] Many of these were ordained to titles outside the diocese, but the men ordained in other dioceses to titles in this diocese would balance them.

[2] These figures are arrived at by taking all ordained in the dioceses of Lichfield, Chester, and Liverpool, and half those ordained in Manchester, Southwell, and Worcester.

[3] The word "Clergy" is here used in its modern Anglican sense, as not including Subdeacons and clerks in Minor Orders.

[4] In the time of the Pope Urban VI. the Cathedrals of Coventry and Lichfield fell vacant. Their annual value was found to be £330 3*s.* 11½*d.* Calendar of Venetian State Papers relating to England. Vol. I, p. 209.

which needs multiplying by about twenty to give its approximate value in the currency of to-day.

III. The Bishop is not merely the chief Minister of the diocese, but also the source of all ministerial authority within it; so that no one may lawfully exercise any ministerial function, except it be delegated to him by the Bishop. This was so in the time of the Apostles, and has been the rule and practice of the Church ever since. The admission of men both to Orders and to the cure of souls belongs to the Bishop.

Though the rule remains, many details in its observance have altered, and an account of some mediæval usages may not be wholly out of place.

IV. ORDERS were of two classes: Major or Holy, and Minor. It was not necessary to pass through all the Minor Orders on the way to Holy Orders. The necessary steps were apparently: First tonsure, which made a man a Clerk, but was not properly an order, and Acolyte. The other Minor Orders were Exorcist, Reader and Doorkeeper. The Subdiaconate, originally a Minor Order, came, about the twelfth century, to be reckoned among the Major Orders along with the Diaconate and Priesthood. The Episcopate was outside and above these two classes.

All Orders were conferred by a Bishop[1] under limitations imposed by ecclesiastical law. The monition to candidates for Orders (see p. 159) gives a general idea of these limitations.

V. A TITLE was always required. As early as the fifth century it was decreed that no Presbyter or Deacon should be ordained "at large," but must be assigned to a Church, Oratory, or Monastery, otherwise his Ordination to be void.[2] The utility of this rule, as a check upon the increase of unemployed Clergy without means of subsistence, is obvious. The means of subsistence was insisted on as much as the sphere of work; indeed in mediæval times the latter was sometimes dispensed with, and men were ordained to the title of "Patrimony" or "Hereditary House" ("Private means"), and even to the title of a yearly pension.

[1] It would appear that Abbots had in some cases assumed the power of conferring Minor Orders on those under their jurisdiction, as they are forbidden to do so by the Council of Trent. Session xxiii. Decree of Reforfation, Chap. x.

[2] Canon of the Council of Chalcedon, A.D. 451.

In the case of the Regular Clergy (Monks and Friars), their profession constituted a title to Orders. The Secular Clergy, unless presented early to a benefice, received their title almost universally from the Religious Houses. The Religious Houses had the patronage of a large number of Parochial Churches and Chapels, which had been appropriated to them; and they would be able to find places for many secular clerks in serving them, and the Chantries in them; but many of those to whom they had given titles must also have been maintained by them for years. In fact it was to the Monasteries that the Church of England owed its supply of Clergy. They provided men with the means of training, with a title, and with work and maintenance until they obtained a benefice.

VI. In the Monition, it will be observed that "no one of another diocese, unless with LETTERS DIMISSORY from his own Diocesan," might be ordained. The Council of Nicaea (A.D. 325) decreed that no Bishop might ordain a clerk from another diocese, and the Council of Carthage (A.D. 349) extended the limitation to laymen. A Bishop was considered to have a right to the services of all men of his own diocese who offered themselves for the ministry. So that if a man wished to be ordained in another diocese, he had to obtain leave from the Bishop of the diocese of his origin. The Bishop signified his leave by Letters dimissory. A man who had obtained a title to Orders in another diocese, might be ordained by the Bishop of the diocese of his origin, nor does the sanction of the Bishop of the diocese in which his title was, seem to have been required. Most of the Letters dimissory issued by Bishop Stretton are to men, already clerks, who, either held a Benefice in his diocese and were going to reside elsewhere for study, or were going to be ordained to a title in another diocese. The Letters apparently were general, and authorised them to receive Orders from any Catholic Bishop. The present custom of the Church of England is different. It vests the right of Ordination in the Bishop of the diocese in which a man's title to Orders is, and takes no notice of his origin.[1] So that practically the only case in which a Bishop now issues

[1] This would appear to be irregular, unless the countersigning by the Bishop of Letters Testimonial may be considered equivalent to the issue of Letters dimissory. See Canon 34.

Letters dimissory, is when he wishes to have a man ordained to a title in his diocese, at a time when he himself is not holding an ordination.

VII. INTERVAL BETWEEN ORDERS.—A deacon of the Church of England is now required "to continue in that office the space of a whole year, except for reasonable causes it shall otherwise seem good unto the Bishop." In the fourteenth century the only limitation was that no one might receive two Holy Orders, or one minor and one Holy Order, on the same day. Men were frequently, almost usually, ordained subdeacon, deacon, and priest at successive ordinations.

VIII. TIME AND PLACE OF ORDINATIONS.—Ordinations were generally held five times a year (at the Ember seasons and again during Lent), and always on a Saturday.[1]

The place of ordination, when the Bishop officiated in person, was generally the chapel of his Manor of Haywood. Otherwise it was the neighbouring prebendal church of Colwich. Only once were ordinations held in the cathedrals of Coventry and Lichfield.[2]

IX. NON-RESIDENCE.—The number of licences granted to incumbents to be absent from their churches is very large. This is attributable to (1) dispensation with the age qualification, (2) plurality, and (3) secular employment.

(1) The sons of landed gentry or of patrons might be made "clerks" by tonsure, and instituted to a benefice at any age. The Bishop then had power over the youth, to place him under a tutor, and to sequestrate the income of the benefice to his education, and to providing for the serving of the cure. Generally the well-born nominee was instituted as an acolyte, or a deacon at most, and then got leave of absence for study, which was renewed from time to time, postponing his admission to full Orders. A benefice was regarded, by those who had patronage or influence enough, as the normal provision for the education of younger sons.

[1] This possibly explains why the Ember Collect is not appointed for the day on which the Ordination is now held.

[2] Out of 110 Ordinations, 68 were held at Colwich, 23 at Haywood, 6 at Sallow, 4 at Prees, 1 at Berkswich, Bishop's Ichington, Donnington Manor, S. John's Chester, Coventry Cathedral, Coventry Carmelites, Lichfield Cathedral, Lilleshall Parish Church, Shrewsbury Abbey, and Austin Friars Stafford. John of Gaunt, in 1379-80, got a licence for an Ordination to be held in Kenilworth Castle, but there is no further record of it.

(2) Plurality was common, and only limited by opportunity, as Papal dispensations were sometimes granted to well-born youths to "hold ecclesiastical benefices without stint." Robert de Stretton himself held one or two Rectories, as well as several Prebends, at the time of his nomination to the See, and was probably in attendance on the Black Prince all the time. Rectors were not required to swear residence at their institution, though Vicars were.

(3) In an age when few beside the Clergy were literate, it is natural that their services should have been in request for secular employment. The great offices of State were filled by Churchmen,[1] and the "King's Clerks," originally his Chaplains, became also, as early as the reign of Canute, an organised body for the transaction of the affairs of his government. The nobility made a like use of their Chaplains in their affairs—witness the number of licences to incumbents for absence from their churches to serve or attend some lord. It was not their learning alone which recommended the employment of Clergy in secular affairs; the system had also the merit of cheapness. There was no need to provide salaries for them, as they derived their income from the ecclesiastical benefices which they held, but did not serve; the "cure of souls," the object for which the benefice existed, being deputed to Chaplains, sometimes both ill paid and ill qualified.

X. MEDIETIES and PORTIONS of benefices belong, as regards their origin, to an earlier epoch, and their number had probably diminished considerably by the fourteenth century. The system of patronage was no doubt responsible for them. Partition of a benefice came about, either through an agreement between joint patrons, or a division among co-heiresses, or by arrangement of a single patron. A surprising amount of latitude was allowed to patrons in the disposal of the incomes of benefices. They allotted the tithes pretty much as they liked among the ministers of a church, and were able to detach pensions from a benefice, and present men to them. The marriage of the clergy, which, in spite of all discouragement, lingered in England till the thirteenth century, and which resulted in many benefices being handed down from father to son for generations, was no doubt contributory to the increase of portions. It was not until the Papacy had established its ascendancy in England, that the abuse was materially checked. The practice was harmful in every way; the division of income tended to clerical poverty, the division of responsibility to neglect of duty, and the division of authority to unseemly strife.[1]

[1] During the episcopate of Robert de Stretton, namely in 1371, an attempt was made to substitute laymen, but their inexperience and incompetence soon brought about a return to the old way. The first time a layman was appointed Chancellor was in 1340.

XI. THE SACRAMENT OF PENANCE has had two distinct developments. That of the early centuries, when those excommunicated for grave sins—idolatry, homicide, or unchastity—were, after making public confession, admitted by the Bishop to penance, and could only be restored to communion by him; which would not generally be for some years, or even not until they were at the point of death. This solemn penance was purely disciplinary, and was not concerned with the forgiveness of sins by God. Its rigours and disabilities, and the fact that it might not be repeated for a second lapse, made men unwilling to submit themselves to it, and it fell into disuse.

The second development is closely connected with the development of belief in the power of the keys. The early Fathers do not claim this power for the ministers of the Church. In early Sacramentaries a prayer is found for the bestowal of the Holy Ghost on Bishops to enable them to remit sins, but the form of commission now used in the Ordination of Priests is not found before the middle of the eleventh century; and whether this power extended to the guilt of sin, or only to its temporal penalty, remained an open question till the Council of Trent,[2]

[1] For much information on these and kindred matters see Canon Raine's Preface to Archbishop Gray's Register, §§ iv. and v. Surtees Society, 1872.

[2] The Sacrament of Penance was treated of in the fourteenth Session of the Council and the conclusions embodied in fifteen canons.

though it is probable that the laity in general had long regarded the Priest as possessed of full power.

The existence of manuals for Confessors, called "Penitentials," in the seventh century, shows that auricular confession was then in common use, but it was not made obligatory till the Lateran Council of 1216.

XII. JURISDICTION AND RESERVED CASES.—The ministry of Penance was at first in the hands of the Bishops, and they always kept control over it. No priest might be a confessor without licence from the Bishop or Pope, but the ancient claim of the Parish Priest, to hear the confessions of his parishioners, was recognized in the system of jurisdiction evolved by the schoolmen[1], and confirmed by the Lateran Council, when it decreed that confession must be made annually proprio sacerdoti, unless he agreed to another arrangement, or there was some valid reason to the contrary.

Jurisdiction was also dependent on the degree of (1) the penitent and (2) the sin.

(1) For a King, the "proper priest" was either the Bishop of the diocese in which he was crowned, or the Pope; for a noble, the Bishop in whose diocese his principal seat was, and so on; but, as a matter of fact, princes, nobles and gentlefolk got licences from the Pope or Bishop to choose confessors for themselves. Many such licences are recorded in this Register.[2]

(2) The Parish Priest or other authorized Confessor was not competent to deal with all cases. Certain cases were reserved to the Bishop, and had to be referred to him, except only when the penitent was at the point of death; then any priest might absolve him, and some cases had to be passed on by the Bishop to the Pope. The following lines from a document of the early fifteenth century[3] give some of the chief "Papal" cases:

Per papam: clericum feriens: falsarius: urens.

[1] This may be summed up: "The Priest in his parish, the Bishop in his diocese, and the Pope in all Christendom."

[2] The Pope claimed jurisdiction over all magnates down to Barons. Commoners might get licences from the Bishop.

[3] This document, printed in the appendix to Mendham's History of the Council of Trent, gives 20 cases of reservation to the Pope, 40 to the Bishop, and 7 to the Abbot.

solvitur : et quisquis audet cantare ligatus :
symon qui fuerit : nec fallit regula talis.[1]

But :

Percutiens clericum Roman petat : excipiuntur ut puer : atque senex : egrotus : femina : pauper :
et claustralis : habens inimicos : et hostia servans.[2]

Several lists of Reserved Cases are to be found in this Register,[3] from which it appears that the Bishop reserved to himself offences against his churches, property, person, and dignity, and the graver sins.

Licences to choose a confessor, or to be penitentiary (i.e., confessor), even in reserved cases, must be understood as extending only to such cases as were reservable, or not, at the Bishop's discretion.

There are several licences to Incumbents to be confessors to their parishioners. This does not mean that their penitentiary jurisdiction had not previously been recognized, only that they were empowered by the licence to deal with cases ordinarily reserved.[4] A Parochial Chaplain or Assistant Curate needed a licence before he could act as confessor.

Besides the Parochial Clergy there were other confessors licensed by the Bishop :—A Penitentiary General for the whole diocese,[5] who was sometimes a Bishop ; a Penitentiary in each Cathedral Church ; Penitentiaries for Archdeaconries, for Deaneries or groups of Deaneries, and for Parishes or groups of Parishes. These were usually Friars.

The Religious (monks and nuns) had their own confessors, and special confessors were assigned for the Clergy.[6] The Beneficed Clergy often got licences to choose for themselves.[7]

[1] Striking of clerks, falsification of Papal documents, burning of churches, saying mass in spite of interdict or excommunication, and simony.

[2] The following were excused going to Rome for absolution : a child, an old man, a sick person, a woman, a poor man, a monk, one who has enemies, and a door-keeper.

[3] See pp. 3, 19, 22, 31, 58, 92, 127, 131, 199, 212, 356.

[4] Most of these licences are for Lent, the busiest time for confessors.

[5] See pp. 3, 92, 131, 102, 199, 212, 356.

[7] The whole subject is very fully dealt with in Lea's History of Auricular Confession.

XIII. THE REGISTER consists of 131 parchment leaves bound in sheep. The first 39 leaves measure about 11 by 8 inches, the rest about 13¼ by 10 inches. It is in very good preservation, and there are few places where the writing is so worn and faint as to be illegible, nor are these of much importance.

The entries extend from 26th September, 1360, to 10th March, 1385, but include some documents of a much earlier date. Folios 1 and 2 contain the Register of the Vicars General; 3 to 37 Licences; 38 to 80 General Acts, not in strictly chronological order; 80 and 81 a Will, with several ecclesiastical bequests; 82 to 131 Ordinations.

XIV. THE ABSTRACT.—The aim of the editor has been to condense, into as concise a form as might be, the whole matter of the original. The degree of condensation varies according to the nature of the entry. Where the facts are repeated several times, with slight variations or additions, in the various documents which go to make up the original entry, they have been reduced into one account, but in no case has the name of a person or place or any material fact been intentionally omitted.

Fol. 38. b. Dispensation to Richard Dalby, clerk, for defect of birth.

Letter from Francis, Bishop of Florence, to the Bishop of Lichfield or his Vicar General, stating that Richard Dalby, the son of a bachelor and a single woman has been ensigned with the clerical character without mentioning this defect, that he is prevented by wars and the dangers of the road from coming in person to the Apostolic See, and petitions that he may have a dispensation to use the clerical character, to be promoted to all Orders, and to hold a benefice even with cure of souls. The said Bishop, therefore, by authority of the Pope, whose penitentiary care he exercises in the absence of Egidius, Priest Cardinal of S. Clement, major Penitentiary, commits the matter to the Bishop of Lichfield. If he finds that Richard Dalby is a suitable person, no imitator of his parents' incontinence, but of good conversation and life, and sufficiently literate, he may enjoin a suitable penance for his first excess (the taking upon him of the clerical character), and grant him a dispensation; provided that on obtaining a benefice he undertakes to procede to all Orders and reside in his benefice. Otherwise the dispensation to be void. Dated Avinion, vj. Id., Dec., 3rd year of Innocent VI.

The Bishop of Lichfield's enquiries being satisfactory, he grants the dispensation. Dated London, 20th May, 1368.

Commission on behalf of the Fraternity of the Cathedral Church of Coventry, to all Archdeacons, and their officials, Deans, Rectors, Vicars, and Parochial Chaplains, throughout the diocese.

The Bishop, after speaking of his great love for his Cathedral Church, which is his bride, in spiritual union with whom he makes one body, and of his desire to add something to the privileges and advantages which it has received in the past from Popes and former Bishops, commands Parish Priests of his Diocese, every Sunday after the sprinkling of the Holy water, to pour forth humble and devout prayers to Almighty God for the Brethren and Sisters of the Fraternity of the said Church, both living and dead; proclaiming to their parishioners that they who have duly entered the said Fraternity, or who have contributed to the fabric of the said Church in their lifetime or by will, shall enjoy ecclesiastical burial. That if a church to which the Proctor of the said Fraternity comes seeking contributions, shall be under suspension by the Bishop's authority, on the day that he comes the divine offices shall be solemnly celebrated, so that it be only once a year. Or if anyone was, by the Bishop's authority, to undergo the penance of being whipped round a church, and the Proctor comes to it on that day, the penance shall, by the Bishop's special favour, be put off to another day. That the Proctors of the said Church shall be received before all other Proctors, except those of the Bishop's Church of Lichfield, and admitted to set forth the business of the said Church and the indulgences granted to its benefactors. That the clergy shall by word and example promote the business, and pay to the Proctors the whole sum collected, under pain of excommunication. And, that the minds of the faithful may be moved to exercise charity by the promise of spiritual rewards, the Bishop, by the mercy of Almighty God, and trusting in the merits and prayers of the glorious Virgin Mary His Mother, in whose honour the Church of Coventry was founded, and of the Holy Apostles S. Peter and S. Paul, and of S. Cedde Bishop and Confessor, the Bishop's Patron, and of all the Saints, grants as an indulgence to all who contribute to the fabric, or sustentation of the lights, vestments, or ornaments of the said Church, if they truly repent and confess their sins, a release of 40 days from the penance enjoined on them. He also ratifies all other indulgences in Writ for an inquisition of Bastardy from King Edward to the Bishop, stating that John Aboveton of Cotherstok and Margaret his wife, before the kings justices at Westminster, claim against John son of Peter de Holt, the moiety of an acre of land at Asshton, co. North[ants], as the reasonable part of the said Margaret by right of inheritance from John de Hotot, father of the said Margaret, and grandfather of the said John son of Peter. The said John, son of Peter, objects that the said Margaret cannot be anyone's heir because she is a bastard. John and Margaret reply that she was born at Lichfield of the said John Hotot and Ermetrude his wife, after marriage. This being a matter for the ecclesiastical court, the Bishop is required to make an inquisition and report to the King's Justices. Witness R. de Thorp at Westminster, 16 Feb. 35th year of his reign.

The Bishop's reply stating that Margaret is not legitimate. Dated Prees, 24th May, 1361.

Letter directed to the official of the Archdeaconry of Coventry on account of the plague. The pestilence with which God is visiting the sins of the people has not yet come into this diocese, but many other parts of the kingdom are rendered empty by it. The official is therefore to enjoin all Rectors, Vicars, Parochial Chaplains, and others, both Religious and Secular, who celebrate the divine offices, that, in their masses and in the processions round their churches on Wednesdays and Fridays, they make humble and earnest prayer that God may be pleased to drive away the plague and defend his people from all adversities. The Bishop, by the mercy of God and trusting in the merits and prayers of the Blessed Virgin, Saints Peter and Paul, the glorious confessor S. Cedde, and all the saints, grants to all who with true contrition assist at the said processions and devoutly do other works of charity, an indulgence of 40 days from the penance enjoined on them. The parish clergy are also empowered to absolve their parishioners who are at the point of death from all their sins, even in cases reserved, if they confess and repent, and to enjoin salutary penances. Letter from the Bishop to the official of Coventry stating that Symon, Archbishop of Canterbury and Legate of the Apostolic See, has demanded a tenth of all the goods and benefices of ecclesiastical men, both exempt and non-exempt, in the diocese, to be paid as to one moiety before the feast of S. John Baptist last past, and as to the other moiety, before the feast of the Purification of the Virgin next, as a subsidy of 100,000 florins granted to the Pope by the Archbishop of Canterbury and John, Archbishop of York, their suffragans, and the clergy of both provinces, of their own free will, and graciously accepted by the Pope. The said tenth will barely make up the required amount. The Bishop would have collected and sent the said tenth, together with the portion falling

At Repyndon [Repton], xviij. Kal. Jul. 1364, and the 4th year of the Bishop's consecration, a certain brother was promoted Suffragan of the Bishop and his Penitentiary General in the whole diocese.[2]

The Bishop leases his palace in the city of Coventry with its gardens and appurtinences to Nicholas de Crouland, chaplain, and Henry de Kele, citizen of Coventry, for 4 years, at a rent of 46*s.* 8*d.* a year. Reserving the use thereof to himself and his household when at Coventry, and to his clerks at such times as the Annual Synods are held there. If the rent be in arrear he may re-enter and take possession of contents. The tenant to do repairs. Dated Heywode, viij. Id. Oct. 1364, and the 5th year of the Bishop's consecration.

Commission to interdict the commonalty, town, and Parish Church of Repyndon [Repton]. The Bishop in the course of his visitation lately came to the Priory of Repyndon. Certain satellites of Satan, the whole commonalty of the town, with swords and staves, bows and arrows, noise and tumult, while we were actually engaged in visiting in the Chapter house, came and villainously hindered and alarmed us and our clerks. They rushed up to the gates of the priory and attacked without cause one of our household who was there; then, having broken down the gates—we keeping humbly and harmlessly within—they presumed in their malice to besiege the priory with continual going about it from the eleventh hour of that day till the first hour of the day following, and shot through the windows of the chamber where we were, with utter indifference and inhumanity at us or any of our servants. And neither we nor any of our household could go out of the gates meanwhile for fear of death, or at least of grievous bodily harm, until the noble Sir Alueric de Sulny, knight, and Robert Fraunceys came, and by their power and counsel directed our feet into the way of peace. Thus these malefactors wickedly violated the King's peace and that of the Church and Realm of England; and their ill doings are become notorious throughout the diocese. We, therefore, pass sentence of major excommunication on all members of the community who were in any way to blame, and do not utterly abhor their detestable and inhuman pertinacity, and, in order to punish so unspeakable a crime, we place the commonalty and parish church of the said town under an interdict, and warn all, under pain of excommunication, that the said malefactors, their aiders and abettors, are excommunicate, and their absolution specially reserved to us and our superiors, except only if they be at the point of death. This sentence is to be published with all due solemnity in all churches on Sundays, feastdays, and weekdays at the proper hours, with ringing of bells, cross erect, candle lighted and extinguished, and priestly vestments and stoles worn; and the publication thereof is to be continued until they merit the grace of reconciliation. Dated, Alfreton, iv. Non. Nov. 1364.

Commission from the Bishop, as the Pope's deputy, to the official of the Archdeaconry of Coventry, informing him that the Abbot and Convent of Leicester have refused to pay in respect of the churches which they hold in the said Archdeaconry the tenth granted by the clergy of the province of Canterbury to Pope Innocent VI. He is commanded under pain of excommunication to go to the said churches and publish monitions, which may come to the notice of the said Abbot and Convent, that the tenth must be paid within a month from the date of the monition.

The Bishop in his visitation found the chancels and rectory houses of the said appropriated churches dilapidated. The official is therefore to warn them that the necessary repairs must be done within a year from the date of his monition under pain of a fine of 100 marks to the fabric of the Church of Lichfield.

He is also to warn them to pay in respect of the said churches the caritative subsidy[1] granted to the Bishop by the clergy of the diocese.

He is to acknowledge the receipt of this letter and report his doings in the matter. [No date.]

Letter from the Bishop to the Official of the Court of Canterbury acknowledging the receipt on x. Kal. Mart. of a mandate, dated London, viij. Id. Feb. 1364, in which the official states that he has received a complaint from the Abbot and Convent of Whalley, order of Cistercians, to the effect that the Chapel of S. Michael in the Castle of Cliderhowe [Clitheroe] has always been annexed to the Parish Church of Whalley, within the bounds of which it is. That the said church was and is appropriated to the said Abbot and Convent, formerly at Stanlowe[1] and afterwards transferred to the Monastery of Whalley, and that they have ever since the annexation received the fruits and profits of the said church and chapel—the portion of the Vicar of the Church alone excepted. But Sir John de Stafford now claims the said chapel, though he has no right to it. The Bishop, to whom the official committed the case, has neglected to do justice, and the Abbot and Convent have complained again. He is now, with all due reverence, commanded either to do justice in the matter within 15 days, or to cite Sir John de Stafford to appear before the said court in the Church of S. Mary de Arcubus,[2] London, on the day next after the 15 days are elapsed, and to report the receipt of the official's letter, and his action in the matter of citation.

The Bishop reports that he is prevented from hearing the said case himself, and wishes the official to do so, that he could not find the party complained of, and so must be excused from citing him. Dated Heywode, x. Kal. Mart. same year.

The Bishop appoints Masters Robert de Stretton, Auditor of causes of the holy Palace Apostolic (S. Palacii Apostolici Auditorem causarum), Richard de Bermyncham, Archdeacon of Coventry, and John de Wygenhale, clerk, who are sojourning in the Roman Court, his Proctors for all business with the Apostolic see. at such days, hours, and places as they may think best the sentence of the said Court in a case brought by the Chapter of Lichfield Cathedral against ds. John de Chysenhale, Vicar of Wynewyk, for withholding from them during the years 1332 to 1342 inclusive a yearly pension of 24 marks, payable at Wynewyk in equal portions at Christmas and the Nativity of S. John Baptist. The sentence is that the said Vicar shall henceforth pay the said pension to the Chapter together with the arrears, amounting to 264 marks, and 100 marks, less one penny, costs. If he refuses, they are to compel him by ecclesiastical censure.

They are to acknowledge the receipt of this mandate, and to report as to its fulfilment. Dated London, iv. Kal. Apr. 1343.

Modification of the statutes of the Chantry, founded, with the consent of Bp. Roger, the Bishop's immediate predecessor, and the other persons interested, in the Parish Church of Chesterfield, by Roger de Chesterfield, Rector of Wykyngeston, Lincoln Diocese.

Fol. 47. b. Owing to the scarcity of chaplains caused by the late plague, and the consequent difficulty in finding honest, circumspect, and literate persons in Priest's orders to take the cure and rule of the said Chantry, the Bishop, at the request of the founder, and with the consent of the chaplain, ds Roger de Hanneley, having taken counsel with those learned in law, and invoked the grace of the Holy Spirit, makes the following modification of the original ordination of the said chantry :—

1. It was ordained that "the chaplain wearing a surplice shall say Matins and the other Hours daily in the choir of the said church with the Vicar or Parochial chaplains." This requires continual residence. It is modified to "only on Sundays and double feasts, on other days he may say the Hours in the church or other honest place, by himself or with others. So that he be not absent more than 21 days a year, and find another chaplain to celebrate for him in his absence."

2. It was ordained that "the rents and goods of the chantry, after the deduction of necessary expenses, shall be expended to the use of the chantry and not otherwise." The chaplain holds the chantry as a benefice, and is entitled to receive the rents and profits, and to dispose by will of what he has received. He is however to set aside in a chest with two locks a sum of 6*s.* 8*d.* a year in aid of the repairs of the house belonging to the chantry.

3. It was ordained that "the chaplain shall bind himself to take no other office or service." This is to be understood as meaning only such as are incompatible with the obligations of the chantry.

4. The expression "the chaplain shall avoid taverns altogether and shall not go to the house of any for that purpose," is to be understood 'that he shall not have any such custom.'

5. It was ordained that "the chaplain shall say every day after Matins before Mass the Seven and Fifteen Psalms[1] with the Litany and accustomed Prayers; and after dinner the Office of the Dead with the Nine Psalms.[2] And every day at the tomb of the Founder's father and mother he shall say in the audience of the bystanders the 'De Profundis'[3] with the Prayers and other things there expressed." This is modified as follows:—"He is to say daily before his Mass the Seven Psalms with the Litany and accustomed Prayers when he conveniently can. Also daily the Office of the Dead according to the Use of Sarum, except when honestly hindered. And also daily the Psalm 'De Profundis' with the Prayers there 'Inclina' and 'Fidelium,'[4] immediately after Mass, before the altar and not necessarily at the said tomb." The statutes thus modified to hold good. Dated Heywode, 8th May, 1365.

Lancs.: Henry son of Bernard and Matilda his wife, by Adam del Acres their attorney, claim against Katherine, formerly wife of Robert de Lathum, and Thomas de Lathum, Kt. (chivaler), guardians of the land of the heir of Richard de Torbok, Kt. (miles), a third part of two parts of the manor of Torbok, as the dowry of the said Matilda from Richard de Torbok formerly her husband, and against Henry Russell and Margaret his wife, they claim a third part of one part of the said manor on the same grounds. Katherine and Thomas, by Henry Norreys their attorney, and Henry and Margaret, by John de Laughfeld their attorney, said that Matilda was never married to Richard de Torbok. The plaintiffs assert that she was betrothed to the said Richard, at the door of the church of Ormeschirche (desponsata ad ostium ecclesie de O).[1] A mandate was sent to the Bishop bidding him enquire and report on the Quindene of S. Hillary. He did not do so till 3 weeks after Easter. He found no proof that Matilda was betrothed or married to Richard de Torbok.

Presentation of John de Cotyngham, clerk, Lincoln Diocese, to the office of Notary public, under authority committed to the Bishop by a Bull of Pope Urban V., dated Avinion, xvii. Kal. Jul. in the 3rd year of his papacy.

The Bull states that the office was invented that contracts might be publicly noted for the security of the present and the memory of the future. That if the said John is found suitable he may be admitted on taking the following oath: "I John, etc., being neither married nor in Holy Orders, will be faithful to S. Peter, and the Holy Roman Church, and my Lord Pope Urban V. and his successors, and will not advise, assist, consent to or favour anything whereby they may lose life or limb, or take any harm. I will not reveal their counsel, which they may manifest to me, to any person to their hurt. If anything come to my notice which may turn to the danger or hurt of the Pope, I will hinder it to the best of my power, and if I cannot, will take care that it be brought to the Pope's notice. The Roman Papacy, the sovereignty of S. Peter, and the rights of the said Church, I will help, defend, preserve and restore, especially in my native state or land. I will exercise the office of a Notary faithfully. In making contracts I will neither add nor take away anything by which the substance of the contract is altered without the consent of the party or parties concerned. I will not make an instrument concerning any contract in which I know there is violence or fraud. I will reduce contracts into a Protocol and will not maliciously put off making a public instrument, contrary to the will of the party or parties concerned, saving my just and accustomed fee. So help me God and these Holy Gospels."

The Bishop's inquiries being satisfactory, he invested the said John de Cotyngham with the said office by the handing of a pen and ink. Dated Lichfeld, 22nd Apr. 1366. Fol. 49 b.

[1] In 1366, xix. Kal. Sept., the Pope ordered the Bishop to provide a coadjutor for Hugh de Hopwas, who was old, infirm, and nearly blind.—Calendar of Papal Letters, vol. iv.

The Prior acknowledged that he had sold timber and appointed officers, both inside and outside the Priory, both religious and secular, without the knowledge or consent of the brethren. The Bishop orders that all the business of the Priory shall be considered and decided in chapter, and that the Prior and other administrators shall give an acconnt twice or once a year to the whole Convent, or at least to the senior and more prudent brethren, under pain of suspension from their office. Also that the common seal of the Priory be kept in a chest with three locks, notably distinct, by the Prior and two Canons elected by the whole Convent, and that nothing be sealed which has not been publicly read and understood by the whole Convent or the greater part thereof.

Dispensation for John Legh and Margaret Wastenays. Fol. 51. b.
Letters of Guillermus, Cardinal Priest of S. Laurence in Lucina, Papal Penitentiary, dated Avinion, xviij. Kal. Mai., the 4th year of Pope Urban V., informing the Bishop that the said parties, knowing that Geoffry Massy, the first husband of Margaret, was by marriage of the 3rd and 4th degrees of consanguinity with the said John, were publicly married and had offspring, so that a divorce would cause grave scandal and hurt. They therefore petition for a dispensation. The Bishop is empowered to absolve them from the sentence of general excommunication which they have incurred, when they have been separated for such time as he thinks expedient; and after imposing a salutary penance, and enjoining that the survivor of them shall always remain unwed, he may permit them to marry afresh, provided their parents and friends consent, and Margaret be willing. The children, existing and future, to be legitimate. They must fast every Friday for a year, and, within a year, dower a girl with 10 golden florins.

The Bishop dispenses them accordingly. Dated Heywode, v. Id. Jun. 1366.

Fol. 52. a. The Bishop dispenses them accordingly. Dated Heywode, v. Id. Jun. 1366.

Dispensation for the noble Richard de Scharesbreck (domicellus) and Matilda de Burchecar, woman (mulier).

Letter from Pope Urban V., dated Avinion, vij. Kal. Sep. the 2nd year of his Pontificate, stating that the parties were clandestinely married without publication of banns[1] in ignorance of any obstacle, and afterwards discovered that Gilbert de Goseforsiche, layman, qui predictam M. ante huiusmodi contractum matrimonii actu fornicario cognoverat, and the said Richard were of the 3rd and 4th degrees of consanguinity. A divorce would cause scandal. If Matilda is willing and their parents and the greater part of their kinsfolk within the 3rd degree consent, they may be married afresh, and all their children be legitimate.

The Bishop dispenses them accordingly. Sealed and signed by Master Thomas de Tenelby, clerk, Notary Public, at Heywode, 24th July, 1367, the 5th Pontifical Indiction, and the 5th year of Urban V. Present:—Masters Robert de Stretton, Archdeacon of Derby, William de Ideshale, Notary Public, and Thomas de Frodesham, clerk, of Lichfield Diocese.

(chivaler), and Emma his wife lately brought an action before William de Fyncheden and Roger de Fulthorp, Justices, at Lancaster Assizes against Henry de Terbok and others concerning tenements in Torton other Mores, of which Richard de Terbok was seized in his lordship as of fee at the time of his death. Henry claimed them as son and heir of Richard by his first wife Matilda, and turned out Emma and her husband, who claimed them and occupied them as daughter and heir of Richard, by his wife Margaret, they affirming that Henry is not legitimate. The Bishop is to enquire, or report to the said Justices at Lancaster by Friday of the 3rd week in Lent. Witness: William ad Fyncheden, at Lancaster, 3rd of August, 41st year of the King's reign [1367].

The Bishop, on the authority of a Royal Writ, dated Westminster, 26th October, appoints the Prior and Convent of Kenilleworth collectors for the Archdeaconry of Coventry of the tenth of the goods of all ecclesiastical persons for 3 years, granted by the clergy of the diocese to the King for the defence of the kingdom, in accordance with a grant of a tenth for 3 years through the whole kingdom made in the last Parliament. Similar mandates were issued to the officials of the Archdeacons of Coventry, Derby, Stafford, and Salop.

Fol. 53. b. Commission to Master John de Brunham, Rector of Hannemere,[1] and Ralph de Smethewyk, Rector of Pleymundestowe,[2] to decide as to the title to the canonry and prebend, sometime held by John de Craven, in the Collegiate Church of S. Decree issued to the Prioress and Convent of Farewell in consequence of dissensions revealed at the Bishop's visitation.

No nun may go to Lichfield without the Prioress' leave, and must be accompanied by two other nuns, and make no vain or wanton delays. The Prioress is not to show any partiality in the granting of leave.

The nuns are not to go outside the bounds of the Priory without the leave of the Prioress or her locum tenens. This is not intended to interfere with the laudable custom of the whole or greater part of the convent walking out together on certain days to take the air. Silence is to be observed within the bounds at the proper times, and delinquents are to be corrected by the Prioress.

No secular women of any condition, except necessary servants, are to dwell within the bounds of the house without the Bishop's leave. If there are any such they are to be removed before the feast of the Purification next.

The nuns are to observe their threefold vow to live in chastity and obedience and to reckon nothing their own. The Prioress is to report transgressors to the Bishop for punishment. Fol. 54. a.

The Prioress and other office-holders are to give an account of their administration at least once a year, to the whole convent or the senior nuns.

No nun is to keep with her for education more than one child, nor any male child over seven years of age, and even that may not be done without the Bishop's leave. If any have more they are to be removed before the feast of the Purification next.

The daily distribution of food to the several nuns has tended to impoverish the House. The Prioress and the whole Convent are to eat together in the Prioress' Hall. The only fire is to be that in the building assigned for the infirmary, called the "Gesthall," except in cases of sickness or other reasonable cause.

The Prioress and Convent are not to make grants of lands, rents, or tenements, without consulting the Bishop, and if so made they are void.

The convent is to be summoned and this decree read and explained in the vulgar tongue by some literate ecclesiastical person on the day after its receipt; and the Prioress is to report to the Bishop any who disregard it. Dated Heywode, xij. Kal. Jan. 1367, and the 8th year of the Bishop's consecration.

Modification of the ordinances of the Chantry founded by Philip de Turvill, sometime canon of Lichfield, in the Church of Bedeworth. It was ordained that the chantry be served by Fol. 55. a. a secular chaplain presented by the Prior and Convent of Erdebury.[2] Owing to the smallness of the endowment no secular chaplain will accept it. The Bishop therefore ordains that the said Prior and Convent shall serve the chantry by one of their Canons regular. Dated Heywode, v. Id. Mart. 1368.

Ordination of the Vicarage of Audeley. Bishop Roger, as appears in his register, annexed the Parish Church of Audeley to the Monastery of Hulton, reserving a suitable portion of its profits for a perpetual vicar, as was required by Papal Letters. But the vicarage has not hitherto been ordained.

The Vicar is to have for his dwelling the house on the west side of the church, lately in the holding of Richard, called le Coupere, and all the glebe of land and meadow belonging to the church, and shall pay no tithe of wool from his sheep thereon. He shall receive the whole tithe of sheaves of the village of Hallemore, of wool and lambs of the village of Betteley, and all mortuaries from these villages and the whole parish; also the tithe of hay of the whole parish, except the township of Audeley; also all the lesser tithes and Lenten alms,[1] viz.:—arrears of white or milk food and foals of the whole parish,[2] together with personal tithes[3] in any way due from any parishioners, and Peter's Pence. Also all oblations in money or in wax when women are purified on the feast of the Purification, and at funerals, and otherwise offered, and the pence at the

[1] or Easter offerings (Quadragesimales).

[2] Albi seu lacticiniorum pullanorum reragii totius parochie. Albus is a word of many meanings, here it appears to mean albus cibus, i.e., eggs and dairy produce. Lacticinia = milk food, i.e., cheese and butter (and sometimes milk). Pullanus = a colt or foal. The small tithe might be paid either in kind or in money according to a scale agreed upon. If in kind, every tenth cheese or foal, &c., would be taken. It is easy to see how arrears would arise under this system. The number of titheable things was not likely to be ten or a multiple of ten every year. The receiver of tithe would then either wait for the next tenth thing, or make a composition thus:—if, for example, tithe was due on six foals, he would either receive one foal and give back four-tenths of the recognised value of a foal, or he would receive six-tenths of the value of a foal in money. And p. 219: De decimis foeni, agnorum, lacticinii, molendinorum, &c. Qui octavum agnum receperit, det denarium parochiano. Qui nonum agnum receperit, det obolum parochiano; vel expectet rector ecclesiae ad alterum annum donec possit decimum agnum habere, si maluerit; et qui ita expectaverit, semper exigat secundum meliorem agnum, vel tertium ad minus de agnis secundi anni; et hoc pro expectatione primi anni."

Gray's Register*, p. 220.

Blessed bread[1]; also the tithe of geese, young pigs, calves, eggs, stew-ponds[2] fisheries, gardens, flax, hemp, bees, pigeons, herbage, charcoal, and all mills.

He shall also pay synodals and the Archdeacon's procurations and Peter's Pence; all other burdens are to be borne by the Rectors. Dated Heywode, iij. Kal. Feb. 1369.

Fol. 55. b. Dimission to the Abbot and convent of Hales Oweyn, Order of Premonstratensians, Worcester Diocese, to hold the Church of Walshale with its Chapels of Wednesbury and Russhale.

The Bishop finding in his visitation that the said church and chapels were appropriated to the said monastery, called upon the said religious men to prove their title. They appeared by their proxy, Fr. John de Bermyncham, Canon of the said monastery, before the Bishop's commissary, Master Richard de Bermyncham, sitting in Lichfield Cathedral, who having
Fol. 56. a. heard their evidences, appointed Tuesday after the feast of SS. Perpetua and Felicity for pronouncing final sentence. His sentence was in favour of the monastery. The said church with its dependent chapels had been annexed to the said monastery from time immemorial, and served by one of the Canons of the said house, whom the said monastery presented. The appropriation had been sanctioned by the Pope, the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield.

The Bishop therefore confirms it, and orders a record of these proceedings to be registered, together with his commission to Master Richard de Bermyncham his official, dated Heywode, xv. Kal. Feb. 1361; and the deed by which the Abbot and Convent, appointed Fr. John de Bermyncham their proxy, dated in the monastery iij. Non. Feb. 1361. Dated Heywode, vij. Id. Mart. 1361.

in the archdeaconry of Stafford, which had been confirmed by Bishop Roger de Northburgh. Dated iv. Kal. Oct. 1369.

Letter from the King to the Bishop ordering him to enquire and report at 3 weeks from Easter, to the King's Justices at Westminster, as to the legitimacy of Henry de Torbok, who claims against Henry son of John de Dalton, 4 acres of land and 2 acres of meadow in Dalton by Holand, co. Lancs., as the son and heir of Richard, son of Richard de Torbok. Henry son of John denies his right on the ground of his illegitimacy. Witness W. de Fynchedon, at Westminster, 13th Nov. 46th (England) and 33rd (France) Edward.

The Bishop reports that Henry de Torbok is legitimate. Dated Heywode, 25th April, 1373.

Licence to found a house of Friars Hermits at Adreston [Atherstone]. The Bishop cites a letter from Simon, Bishop of London, dated London, 27th Oct. 1374, the 13th Indiction, and 4th year of Gregory XI., enclosing a copy of a Bull of Pope Urban V., dated Avinion, iv. Kal. May, the 2nd year of his Pontificate, presented by Fr. Thomas de Edwardeston, Prior of the House of Augustinians of Clar', London Diocese, Professor of Divinity, which copy was witnessed by dss. William Rysyng and Thomas Crocer, chaplains, of London Diocese, and certified by Nicholas de Haddelye, clerk, of Meath (Miden) Diocese, Notary Public. Fol. 57. b.

The Bull is addressed to the Provincial Prior and Brethren of the Order of Hermits of S. Augustine in England, and gives permission to set up houses of the Order in four more cities or towns in any fit places given by the faithful or otherwise justly acquired, and to build in them a church, chapel, or oratory with cemetery, bell-tower, and bells, a house and other necessary buildings, provided the Diocesan of the place consents, and 12 brethren of the Order can always be maintained there, saving always the rights of parish and other churches, and notwithstanding the constitution of Boniface VIII. forbidding Religious to beg and receive new places. These new houses when established shall enjoy the same privileges as those already existing.

The Bishop consents to the establishment of a house at Adreston on 8 acres of land formerly Peter Frema's, which the said Religious have acquired[1] as the second of the four places above mentioned.

Fol. 58. a. Ordination of a pension of 2 marks from the monastery of Haghmon[2] as compensation to the Bishop for the appropriation to the said monastery of the parish churches of Staunton in Hyneheth and Ruyton; according to an agreement made between Bishop Roger and the Abbot and Convent aforesaid, dated by the said Bishop at Eccleshale, Kal. Apr., and by the Abbot and Convent at Haughmon, iij. Non. Apr. 1331, in which it appears that the Bishop used to receive two portions of the fruits of the said churches as often as they were vacant; there was also a chance of the collation of them lapsing to him by the neglect of the said Religious. The pension is to be paid to the Bishop in his church of Lichfield at Michaelmas.

Ordination of the Vicarage of Grenebergh[3] by Bishop Walter [Langton], dated Lichfield, xvj. Kal. Mart. 1321, and the 25th year of his consecration, in accordance with an agreement, dated Translation of S. Swythin 1297, between the Prior and Convent of Ronton and John de Rogeleye, sometime Perpetual Vicar of the said church, and approved by Master Walter de Thorp, the Bishop's official, by which the Vicar is to have the whole Altarage—except the tithe of wool and lambs, and the mortuaries from the two lords of Grenebergh if they consist of a horse or horses; if of any other animal, he is to have them—the house and buildings, curtilage, and croft, which the Vicar and his predecessors had and have, and 3 selions upon Madewell, 1 upon Banedych, 4 next Smalebrok, 2 rods of meadow below Falebrugg and 4 next Schirevedale towards Herdewyk, [Kites Hardwick], and 1 cartload of hay to be taken in the same meadow from the tithe hay which the Vicar and his predecessors used to receive. He is no longer to have the tithe sheaves and hay which he used to have. He is to have the tithes of the curtilage, and 6*s.* 6*d.* from the men of Caldecot, [Calcutt], in lieu of all tithes of parkable meadow and hemp in Caldecot. He is to find a resident deacon—whom the Religious used to find—and to receive from them yearly at Christmas 1 quarter of wheat and the whole tithe of all mills in the parish for the keep of the said deacon. The Religious are to pay all procurations and synodals. The Bishop [Walter] after hearing the rectors, vicar, and other trustworthy men of the neighbourhood, summoned the Prior and Convent and Geoffry de Botyndon, the vicar, and assigned the portion above written.

Ordination of a Chantry in the Chapel of S. Mary of Osmundeston[1] in the Parish of S. Peter's, Derby, by Robert Fowcher of Osmundeston. The said Robert wishing to provide in his lifetime for the salvation of his soul and believing this may best be done by the daily memorial of the Passion of Christ, who by the hands of the Priest is offered to the Father on the altar, ordains a chantry for daily celebration by a priest for the founder while living and for his soul after death, and for his father's and mother's souls, and the souls of his ancestors and successors, his benefactors, and all the faithful departed, and the benefactors of the said chapel. Fol. 58. b.

He grants ds. William de Tykenhale, priest, and his successors, chaplains of the said chantry, 4 messuages and 54 acres of arable land and 5 of meadow in the townships of Osmundeston and Normaston [Normanton], for the sustentation of the chantry; having first obtained the licence of the King and the other Lords concerned.

The possessions of the chantry may not be alienated either by the founder and his heirs or the priest and his successors, and under no circumstances may the chantry or its revenues be attached to the rectory of the parish. Fol. 59. a.

The presentation shall belong to the founder and his heirs, with lapse after one month to the Abbot and Convent of Derley [Darley], after a second month to the Prior and Convent of Repyndon [Repton], and after a third month to the Bishop.

The custody of the chantry during a vacancy shall belong to the founder and his heirs.

[1] Osmaston, nr. Derby.

The priest when admitted shall swear to observe the ordinances of the chantry and not to attempt anything to the prejudice of the parish church. He shall have full possession of the goods and revenues of the chantry, and may leave his goods by will as freemen and clerks can.

He is to say every Sunday a mass of the day or of the Holy Trinity; every Monday for the souls of all the faithful departed; every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday during the founder's life the Office for the Safety of the People for the founder and Cecilia his wife, with the prayer "Deus qui caritatis,"[1] and after his death he is to say the Office of the Dead for his soul, his wife's soul, and the souls of all his benefactors, and of all the faithful departed; every Friday a mass of the Holy Cross; every Saturday of the Virgin Mary; unless a Double Feast or other just cause prevent; yet when the Office of the Dead is not said a second prayer shall always be said for the founder and his relatives, etc., and the priest's intention in all prayers and masses shall be principally preserved to them [the founder, etc.]. Every day he shall say the full service of the Dead according to Sarum use, viz.: "Placebo" and "Dirige" with the commendation and accustomed prayers, and when he celebrates he shall have a clerk to serve at his own cost, and shall support all the burdens incumbent on the chantry. Dated Osmundeston, the Monday after the feast of S. John before the Latin Gate, 1357.

Grant by the same to John de Stapulford, chaplain of the chantry, of 20*s*. annual rent, from all the lands, etc., of the grantor in Osmundeston, for the term of the lives of Alana, wife of William son of Ralph de Osmundeston, and Joan, wife of Roger de Duffeld of Derby, payable in equal portions at the Annunciation and Michaelmas, with power to distrain on all the said lands, whenever any payment is one month in arrear. Dated Osmundeston, Friday after the Feast of SS. Peter and Paul. 36th Edward III. [1363.]

Process held upon the reformation of certain erasures in the registers of Bishops Roger de Northburgh[1] and Walter de Langton,[2] concerning the Vicarage of Wynwhik,[3] on Dec. 14th, 1375, 14th Indiction, 5th year of Gregory XI., in the place where the Bishop's Consistory is held in the Cathedral Church of Lichfield, before Master Richard de Bermyncham, the Bishop's official and commissary, [Here follows the Bishop's commission, dated Heywode, Id. Dec. 1375, for the holding of the said Process], in the presence of William de Neuhagh, clerk, of York Diocese, Notary Public and the Bishop's Registrary, and the witnesses undersigned. Fol. 59. b.

A certificate under seal of the official of the Archdeacon of Stafford, dated Lichfield, the Conception of the Virgin, was produced, in which he acknowledges a mandate from the Bishop, addressed to him and John Fylote, Rector of Draycote,[4] and dated Heywode, iij. Kal. Dec. 1375, in accordance with which he reports that he has cited ds. John de Harrewod, priest, but William Slen, clerk, who also asserts a right or title in the Church of Wynwyk, and the others interested, he has not cited at Wynwhyk as commanded, because he dared not venture there for fear of the said William Slen, nor has he found any proxies of theirs to cite. He has published the citation in the Cathedral Church of Lichfield ordering all the persons concerned to appear before the Bishop or his commissary on the first law-day after the feast of S. Lucy, Virgin.

John de Harrewod appeared before the commissary. William Slen and the others were called on in a loud voice, but did not appear, and were declared contumacious.

The registers of Bishops Walter and Roger were produced.

The entry in Bishop Walter's Register:—In the margin "Vicaria de Wynwhyk." In the text "Feb. 8, 1306, at Carleoln. John de Bambourg, priest, was instituted Vicar in the Church of Wynwhyk at the presentation of the Prior and Convent of S. Oswald of Nostell. of S. John Baptist, at Wynwhyk, and a similar pension of 24 marks to the Prior and Convent."

The entry in Bishop Roger's Register:—In the margin "Collatio Vicarie de Wynwhyk." In the text "vj. Id. May, 1325, at London, the Bishop conferred upon ds. John de Chisenhale, priest, the Church of Wynwhyk, under the style of vicar, the collation having devolved upon him through the fault of the Prior and Convent of S. Oswald, in York diocese, the patrons, in presenting an unfit person. [oaths etc., as before.]"

The words in the Institution. "Vicar in ecclesia" etc., and in the collation "ecclesiam sub nomine parochialis ecclesie" etc., are plainly in a different hand and ink from the rest.

The original ordinations of the said Vicarage both by Bishop Alexander,[1] dated Lichfeld, v. Non. Mart. 1331 [1231], and Bishop Roger,[2] dated Heywode, iv. Id. Feb. 1347, [1247] were produced. Also the Register of Bishop Roger de Meuland,[3] by which it appears that Id. Aug. 1385 [1285] John de Meseley, priest, was instituted to the Vicarage of the Church of Wynwhyk at the presentation of the Prior and Convent of Nostell, and swore obedience and continual residence.

Also in the Register of Bishop Roger (the last Bishop) it appears that Fr. Geoffry de Burgh, priest, Canon of the Monastery of S. Oswald, was instituted Vicar in the said Vicarage of Wynwyk and swore residence.

Other acts in the same Register were inspected from which it appeared that, according to the constitutions of the Legates, only Vicars swore residence and Rectors did not.

Certain Registers of the Community of the Church of Lichfield were produced, and were seen to be written in the same hand and ink as the new writing in the erasures under consideration.

Fol. 60. b. Depositions of witnesses:—ds. Adam de Ingestre, priest, aged 40 and upwards, said that he knew well the hand in which the words "ecclesia" etc. were newly written in the Registers of Bishops Walter and Roger; it was the hand of John de Leycestr', late clerk of the Chapter of Lichfield. The original word was undoubtedly "Vicaria" etc., and this is confirmed by the margin, where it is "Vicarie de Wynnequyk," "Collatio Vicarie de Wynnequyk."

Ds. Nicholas de Wynley, priest, aged 40 and upwards, Fr. Henry Swan, priest, aged 36 and upwards. Thomas Faleyn, priest, aged 38 and upwards, and John de Cromford, priest, Vicar Choral of Lichfield Cathedral, aged 30 and upwards, gave similar testimony.

The Commissary therefore pronounced the new writing and erasures false, and that the word "vicaria" etc., ought to be restored in place of "ecclesia" etc.

The original ordination of Bishop Alexander is as follows:—

"Alexander, etc. Since the Prior and Convent of S. Oswald of Nostell have committed to us the Churches of Lemynton[1] and Wynwyk of which they have the patronage, requesting us to provide out of the fruits of the said Churches both for the community of the Church of Lichfield and for them: We, considering the poverty of both bodies, ordain that the Prior and Convent shall, on a vacancy, present a suitable priest for institution as Vicar of the Church of Wynwhyk, who shall receive all the fruits of the said Church, and pay to the community of the Church of Lichfield a sum of money to be fixed by us or our successors, and the same sum to the Prior and Convent, when Robert the present Rector shall die or move away, and that meanwhile the pension of 50*s*., which the Prior and Convent receive from the said church, shall be equally divided between them and the community of the Church of Lichfield.

The Church of Lemynton being now vacant, we thus ordain a vicarage of it. The Vicar shall receive all the fruits and pay 15 marks yearly to the community of the Church of Lichfield, one moiety at Christmas and the other at the feast of S. John the Baptist, and a similar pension to the Prior and Convent.

And, because the Archdeacon of Coventry receives a part of the fruits of the churches of his Archdeaconry by their vacancy, the Vicar shall pay him 1 mark [yearly], but shall not thereby be freed from any other Archidiaconal customs. If the Prior and Convent present a man who is not a priest, the presentation shall devolve upon the Bishop for that turn. Dated Lichfield, v. Non. Mart. 1231."

On the seal of the Bishop appended is graven an image like a bishop standing in his pontificals, and these letters round ALEXANDER DEI GRA COVENTRENSIS ET LICHEFELD EPISCOPVS. On the back is an impression of a seal with an image of the Blessed Mary holding her Son in her arms, appearing from the middle upwards, and underneath an image like a Bishop appearing from the middle upwards, with these letters around SIGNET ALEXANDRV̄ VIRGO MARIA SVV̄.[1]

Fol. 61. a. On the seal of the Prior and Convent is graven an image like a king sitting on his throne with a cross in his right hand and a flower in his left and a crown upon his head, and these letters round—SIGILLV̄ SCI OSWALDI ET M̄ DE NOSTELL. On the back is an impression of another seal with an image after the fashion of a Trinity seated on a throne and these letters round, CONTRA SIGILL SANCTI OSWALDI DE NOSTLE.

The Ordination of Bishop Roger is as follows:—Roger etc. Since the Prior and Convent of Nostle have committed to us the Church of Wynwyk, in which they have the right of patronage, and from which the Dean and Chapter of Lichfield receive a pension of 25*s.* by the Ordination of Bishop Alexander, We ordain a Vicarage [in similar terms to the ordination of the Vicarage of Lemynton above]. The vicar to pay to the community of the Church of Lichfield 24 marks a year, 12 at Christmas and 12 at the feast of S. John Baptist, and a similar pension of 24 marks to the Prior and Convent, and a sum of 1 mark yearly to the Archdeacon of Chester. The portion in the church assigned to John de Helm is to be paid by the Dean and Chapter, the Prior and Convent, and the Vicar, in equal portions, until his cession or decease. Dated Heywode, iv. Id. Feb. 1247.

On the seal of Bishop Roger is a Bishop in pontificals, standing with a pastoral staff in his hand, and two heads, one on each side of him, like men's faces, and letters round—ROGVS DEI GRA COVENTRENS ET LICHEFELDEN EPISCOPVS.[1] On the back the impression of a smaller seal with part of an image like the Blessed Mary, having her Son in her arms, appearing from the middle upwards, and under it another image like a Bishop, appearing from the middle upwards, and these letters round—CEDDA ROGA PVERV REGAT VT CV MATRE ROGERV.[2]

The seal of the Prior and Convent is as above described.

There were present Master John de Moreton and ds. Simon Masstang, Canons of Lichfield Cathedral, Master Thomas de Kyrkeby, public notary, ds. John Fylote, Rector of Draycote, John de Ipstok, and John Primyngam, clerks, of Lichfield, Karleolen [Carlisle], and Lincoln Dioceses.

William de Neuhagh, clerk, York Diocese, public notary, drew up the foregoing commission, certification of receipt, production, reading, calling of William Slene and others interested, declaring them contumacious, production of Registers and witnesses, etc., and declaration by Master Richard de Bermyngham, the day, year, and place aforesaid.

Confirmation of the appropriation by the Chapter of Lichfield. Bishop Alexander, who has enriched our Church with many benefits, honours, and liberties, wishes to substitute the Church of Terue [Tarvin] for that of Burtone in Wirehale as a prebend in our Church—so that the Rectors of Terve shall be Canons in it—in order to constitute the Hospital of Burton in Wirehale for the support of the poor and shipwrecked. Master Nicholas Heth, claiming to be Canon of the Cathedral Church of Lichfield and prebendary of Terven in the same, was lawfully cited and appeared before the Bishop to show his title.

He produced a Bull of Pope Innocent VI. directed to the official of Hereford, stating that the said canonry and prebend was formerly held by William de Driffeld, who died recently at the Apostolic See. It was long ago decreed that the disposal of all canonries and other benefices which fell vacant at the Apostolic See be reserved to the Pope. The Pope therefore orders the official to see that Nicholas de Heth, Canon of London, if after due examination he prove suitable, be put in possession of the said canonry and prebend, to the exclusion of all other claimants, notwithstanding the fact that he holds canonries and prebends in London and Hereford, the portion of Overhalle in the Church of Leddebury, and the Parish Church of Hodinet, in Hereford and Lichfield dioceses. Dated Avinion, iij. Id. Aug., the ninth year of his pontificate. Fol. 63. a.

Also an instrument sealed and signed by Master Geoffry de Heyford, clerk, of Durham diocese, Notary Public, certifying that on Jan. 2, 1361, Nicholas de Heth appeared before the locum tenens of the Dean and the canons assembled in the Chapter House of Lichfield Cathedral Church, and produced letters from John de Brouughton, official of Hereford, sole executor of the above Bull, to the Bishop and Dean and Chapter of Lichfield, informing them that he has collated the said Nicholas to the said canonry and prebend, and requiring them to receive him into their fraternity and put him in possession of his stall in the choir and place in the chapter and all the rights and profits thereto belonging. Sealed, at the request of the official, by Loudowic, Bishop of Hereford,[1] and dated Oxford, 2 Dec. 1361. The locum tenens of the Dean and Chapter admitted and inducted the said Nicholas as required. These things were done in the presence of ds. John de Codyngham, succentor, and John de Henton, Notary Public.

Appointment of Master John de Outheby, LL.B., John de Kyrkeby, chaplain, and Thomas de Froddesham, clerk, jointly and severally, to be the Bishop's proctors and messengers for presenting to John, Archbishop of York,[1] and Legate of the Apostolic See, an Apostolic Rescript upon the rejection of an appeal of Master Richard de Tyso from the court of the official of Canterbury to the Apostolic See, and to act on the Bishop's behalf in the matter. Dated Heywode, iij. Kal. Jun. 1373.

Fol. 64. a. Report of the process for dissolution of marriage between John, son of John de Ardene, Kt., and Cecilia, daughter of Nicholas de Eton, Kt.,[2] recorded in the registers of the Archdeacons of Chester, sent by the Archdeacon's official, under date Chester, viij. Id. Feb. 1377, in response to a mandate from the Bishop dated xj. Kal. Feb. 1377.

Acts held in the Collegiate Church of S. John, Chester, on the Thursday after the feast of S. James the Apostle 1332, before Master Thomas Euyas, official of the Archdeacon of Chester. John, son of John de Ardene, appeared by his proctor Hugh le Venables, and Cecilia by her proctor Robert de Oldom. (The instruments of authorisation are given at length. John's is dated Macclesfeld, xv. Kal. Aug. 1332, and sealed by the Dean of the deanery of Macclesfeld, because John's Fol. 64. b. own seal is unknown to many. Cecilia's is dated Medio Wico [Middlewich], xij. Kal. Aug. 1332, and sealed with the seal of the Dean of the deanery of Christianity, Medii Wici.) The libel, supported by the evidence of witnesses who had known the parties from their infancy, was that they were married in the face of the Church when under marriageable age, John being about 11, that John always said he would not consent, and moved the question of dissolution directly he came of age; that these facts are well known in the Parishes of Aldeford, Stopport, and Prestbury and the neighbourhood. Recognition about diverse marriage contracts made by William Thiknes, in order to establish the succession of his right heirs after his death. Fol. 65. a.

22nd Sep. 1378, before the Bishop sitting as a tribunal in the chapel of his manor of Heywod at the hour of prime in the presence of a notary and witnesses, William Thiknes, of noble birth (domicellus), aged 70 and upwards, appeared and declared that when he was 12 he married of his own free will Elizabeth Cune, [Coyney] aged 8, and they regarded each other as husband and wife. When he was 20, moved by what spirit he knew not, he was secretly married—without saying anything about his former marriage—to Katherine Swynnerton; the ceremony was performed in the oratory of his manor of Thiknes by the chaplain who was then ministering there. Banns were not published and the required solemnities of law were omitted. By Katherine he had offspring, William and Eve, still surviving, and seven other sons and daughters now dead. All this time Elizabeth was alive and not divorced, being at once a maid and a wife, as she affirmed to her confessor at the time of her death. When Katherine died, he married publicly, after banns, Margery de Audeley, who is still surviving, and by her had offspring, who are now regarded as his right heirs. He said that he made this statement not from hate or love of any of his sons or daughters, but that all might have justice, and he prayed that a record should be made of the facts, which the Bishop ordered to be done. Dated Heywod, 7th Oct. 1378 (the nineteenth year of the Bishop's consecration). Fol. 65. b.

Ordination of a chantry in the monastery of S. Werburga, Chester.

Thomas, Abbot of S. Werburga, Chester, and the convent of the same, viz., Friars Benedict Brys (or Brice), Prior, John de Caumpedene, William de Merston, sub-prior and sacristan, Henry Fraunceys, William de Aston, John de Souky', Infirmary, William de Hoppewas, third prior, Richard de Schrosebury, almoner, Henry de Sutton, cellarer, John de Stoke, John de Salghton, custos of work, John de Roddeburne, Richard de Lycestr., cook, Hugh de Normanton, refectorary, William Bagot, Robert de Preston, Stephen de Ayssche, Richard de Kyrkeby, Richard de Playleye, John de Forton, Thomas Colle, Walter de Lilleshull, Alexander de Leddesham, Hugo de Hylderton, William le Yonge, and William de Holme, monks, of the Order of S. Benedict, assembled in chapter, unanimously decided to found chantries in their monastery to the praise of the Holy Trinity, the Virgin Mary, and S. Werburga, and for the salvation of their souls, the souls of their founders, predecessors, and successors, and of all the faithful, and especially of William de Bynynton, late abbot, deceased, and of Thomas de Neuport, present abbot.

Every day a mass of the Blessed Virgin, of the Holy Spirit and for the dead is to be said, at the altar of S. Peter or elsewhere, with the collect "Inclina," and during Thomas's life the collect ordained in Missals for an abbot "Concede quaesumus Domine," and after his death, "Inclina," as above. Beginning with the Prior, all the monks, who are chaplains and professed, are to celebrate thus in successive weeks, and to receive each at the beginning of his week, from the cellarer, two shillings from the revenues of the Church of Campeden, which is annexed to the monastery.

On the death of an abbot, for a year immediately following the accustomed office, viz., a "semel" and a "trental," three monks, chaplains and professed, viz., the custodians of the altars and chapels of the Virgin, S. Peter, and S. Stephen, shall celebrate masses as above, with the collect, "Inclina," Fol. 66. a. for the said Abbot and his successors, and each monk so celebrating shall receive from the cellarer twenty shillings from the revenues of the Church of Campeden, payable in equal portions at the beginning and middle of the year. If two abbots die in a year the celebration for the second shall begin directly that for the first is ended.

The anniversary of Abbot Thomas's death shall be celebrated solemnly for ever with a mass, "Placebo," and "Dirige." The almoner shall receive on that day from the cellarer twenty shillings from the revenues of the Church of Campeden, for the use of the poor, ten shillings of it to be distributed in white bread or money, and in order that they may pray with more devotion for the soul of Abbot Thomas, on that day the convent shall have a pint of wine [each] out of the said twenty shillings. This ordination shall also be read on that day in full chapter, that the soul of Abbot Thomas may be had in memory and mercifully absolved.

On the death of a monk, chaplain and professed, for a year immediately following the accustomed office, one monk, the custodian of the altar of S. Stephen or another appointed by the Abbot and Prior, shall celebrate for his soul at the altar of S. Stephen, and receive 20*s.* from the Chamberlain (Camerarius) of the Monastery.

[Provision for the death of more than one monk in a year similar to that for Abbots.]

Every year at Easter the cellarer shall pay from the revenues of the church of Campeden to the Prior 13*s.* 4*d.*, and to each of the other monks, chaplains and professed, 10*s.*, for the augmentation of their necessary vestments, so that they may more devoutly serve God, and pray for the soul of Abbot Thomas for all time, as is done for the founder, Bishop William.

If the performance of these duties or payments be at any time discontinued for a month and the fault lies with the Abbot, he shall be fined £40 out of the goods belonging to his table, and pay it within two months. If the fault lies with the Convent they shall be fined £20 out of the goods belonging to the chambers and kitchen, and pay it within 2 months.

The Courts of the Archbishop, the Bishop, the Archdeacon of Chester, and other ecclesiastical courts, are requested and empowered to enforce these provisions, and the Abbot and Convent bind themselves and their successors in £40 and £20 respectively, to the Earl of Chester for the due observance thereof. Royal Writ, dated Flynt, 30th May, second year of Richard II., stating that Margery, formerly wife of David, son of John de Overton, appeared before the Justiciary of Chester at Flynt and claimed against Alice, formerly wife of Richard de Nesse, a third of 33 acres of land in Knolton, as her dower from her husband. Alice denied that Margery was ever lawfully married to David.

The bishop is commanded to inquire and report to the Justiciary at Flynt at his next session there.

Appropriation of the Church of Schotteswell to the monastery of Lavenden, Order of Premonstratensians and Diocese of Lincoln, by Simon de Sudburia, Archbishop of Canterbury and Legate of the Apostolic see, by authority of a bull of Pope Urban VI., dated Rome, at S. Peter's, Id. Nov. the 2nd year of his papacy.

The bull states that Pope Clement VI. was requested by the abbot and convent to authorise the appropriation on the ground that the monastery was reduced to poverty and burdened with debt owing to its great expenses in hospitality and relief of the poor, by reason of its situation on the public street, and in repair of the church and buildings. The patronage of the Parish Church of Schotteswell belonged to the monastery, and its yearly value was not more than eight marks, according to the taxation value. He ordered that the appropriation should take effect on the cession or decease of the then rector, and that the diocesan should settle what portion of the fruits and profits should be assigned for the vicar, so that he might be suitably maintained and exercise hospitality and support the burdens incumbent on him.

Pope Gregory XI., who succeeded Clement VI. and immediately preceded Urban, before this union took effect, revoked all unions of parish churches or other benefices to monasteries or other places. He ordered Simon, who was then Bishop of London, to enquire into the circumstances of the case and report to him, but died before the report arrived. Fol. 67. b.

Pope Urban therefore empowers the Archbishop to grant a dimission for the union if warranted by the circumstances, with the consent of the diocesan and others whose leave is required, and to settle the portion to be assigned to the Vicar.

The Archbishop finds the facts to be as stated and decrees that on the cession or decease of the present Rector the Abbot and convent shall take possession. The Bishop is to summon him and find out the truth and, if guilty of homicide, deprive and remove him from the said church, which he has held for three years since the alleged offence. Appropriation of the Church of Kynfare (Kinver) in the Archdeaconry of Stafford to the Monastery of Bordesleye, Order of Cistercians, diocese of Worcester. The Abbot and Convent plead poverty. Their chief endowment is in land and agriculture, which brings in little or nothing through lack of labourers owing to pestilences. The exactions imposed by the King for his wars are very heavy. An unusual number of guests both rich and poor have been coming to the Monastery. The cattle plague has also reduced their resources. They have been compelled to borrow, and cannot satisfy their creditors without selling their possessions and so incurring permanent loss. They therefore pray that the Parish Church of Kynfare, of which they have the patronage may be appropriated to their Monastery. Fol. 70. a.

The Bishop with the consent of the Chapters of Coventry and Lichfeld appropriates and unites the said church to the said Monastery. The union to take effect on the cession or decease of the present Rector, when the said religious shall serve the church by a suitable chaplain to be appointed and removed at the will of the Abbot. Letter from Pope Urban VI. to the Bishop:—Ralph and Margaret, knowing that they were related in the third degree, were married publicly, and consummated the marriage. They beg to be absolved from the sentence of excommunication which they have thereby incurred, and to be dispensed. King Richard has humbly petitioned us on their behalf. We commit the matter to you. They must be sworn not to do the like again, or to aid or favour those who do the like. A salutary penance is to be enjoined, and they are to be separated for such time as you appoint. After which they may contract matrimony afresh and lawfully remain in it. Their issue existing or future to be legitimate. Neither may marry again after the death of the other.
Fol. 72. b. Dated Rome at S. Peter's, xiij. Kal. Jul. the fifth year of our Papacy.

Master Richard de Bermyncham, Canon of Lichfeld, Sir Nicholas de Stafford, and Sir John de Lilleburne, knights, ds. John del Croftes, Vicar of the Prebendal Church of Berkeswych, of Lichfield and York dioceses, gave evidence that the facts above stated were true and that the said parties had issue.

The Bishop summoned the parties before him, and when they had made the required promises, released them from the sentence of excommunication, and pronounced their marriage null and void, and separated them for a time, ordering their banns to be published. After which they appeared again before the Bishop and were married in the chapel of his Manor of Heywod.

In witness of all the foregoing the Bishop ordered these letters to be made patent. Dated in the chapel of the manor of Heywode, 28th June, 1383, sixth indiction, sixth year of Urban VI. Present: John de Moreton, Canon of Lichfeld, John de Stretton, and John de Uttoxhatre, Canons of the Collegiate Church of S. Ordination of two chantries in the Parish Church of Huyton. Fr. John de Wryghtynton, sub-prior of the Monastery or Priory of Burscogh (or Bruscogh), order of S. Augustine, Coventry and Lichfield diocese, appeared before the Bishop at Heywode on 15th September, 1383, and produced the following authority:—We, Friars Thomas de Litherlond, Prior, John de Wrightynton, sub-prior, Thomas de Ellerbeck, cellarer, John de Lancaster, sacristan, and John Spynk, and the rest of the said Priory of Burscogh, since the Parish Church of Radeclyf on Sore, York diocese, the patronage of which we hold by the gift of Master Richard de Wynewyk, Canon of Lincoln, brother and heir of the late ds. John de Wynewyk, sometime treasurer of the Church of York, was appropriated to our Monastery by Alexander, Archbishop of York and Legate of the Apostolic See, with the burden of finding at our charges two secular chaplains to celebrate daily in the Church of Huyton for the souls of King Edward III. and John de Wynewyk; and since the revenues of the said church of Radeclyff are not sufficient to relieve our poverty, still less to maintain the said chaplains; remembering, however, the many benefits conferred on our Priory by John and Richard de Wynewyk, do appoint Fr. John de Wrightynton and John de Assheton, literate, jointly and severally, our proctors to appear before the Bishop and bind us and our successors to find at our expense two chaplains as above, to celebrate yearly the obit of John de Wynewyk in our Conventual Church on the day of his death or within the next two days, and to keep in repair the chapel in the Church of Huyton where the body of John de Wynewyk is buried. Dated in the chapter house at Bruscogh, 11th Sep. 1383. Fol. 73. a. Fol. 73. b.

The said proctor read and delivered to the Bishop a paper schedule by which the said Prior and Convent bound themselves to accept and carry out the provisions which the Bishop might ordain. Fol. 74. a.

or assigns, at 10 marks each per annum, payable by the said Priory at the Church of Huyton by equal portions at Michaelmas, Christmas, Easter, and the feast of S. John Baptist. They are to fulfil the above-mentioned obligations under a penalty of 100*s*. to be paid to the Master or Custos of the fabric of the Cathedral Church of Lichfeld as often as they are in arrears in payment of the salaries or in the celebration of the obit by ten days, or in the repair of the chapel, after being duly requested by the parishioners of Huyton or the chaplains, by two months.

They are to pay the salaries within the next ten days—of which two are for the first, two for the second, and the rest for the third and peremptory monition--under pain of excommunication, suspension, and interdict.

The said fine is to be paid within a month of its being incurred—of which three days are for the first, three for the second, and the rest for the third and peremptory monition—under pain of the aforesaid penalty and of sequestration of all their revenues within the diocese, from the time of the lapse of the said ten days, to the Archdeacon of Chester or his official, until the said salaries and fine are paid, together with damages and expenses; Fol. 75. a. nor shall any proof be required beyond the oath of the said chaplains and custos, nor any citation or process be necessary.

If the said Prior and Convent lose the Church of Radeclyf through no fault of theirs, they shall be released from these burdens.

Fr. John accepted this decree on behalf of the Prior and Convent, and bound them by an oath to give any reasonable security which Richard de Wynewyk might demand, whether by recognizances in the King's Court or elsewhere, and to make no attempt to evade these obligations.

Fol. 75. b. The Bishop ordered an instrument under his seal to be drawn up and published by Master William de Neuhagh, notary public and the Bishop's scribe. The King's Writ, dated Salop, 28th March, seventh year of King Richard, requiring the Bishop to report to the Justices at the Assizes to be held at Salop on the Monday after the Nativity of the Virgin, as to the legitimacy of Katherine, wife of Richard de Drayton.

At Salop Assizes before Robert Bealknapp and Robert Charleton, justices, the said Richard and Katherine claimed the manor of Preston othe Were by Doninton against Robert Lee, of Rodne, and John Balenger. Robert said that Petronilla del Lee was formerly seised of the manor, and had issue, Oliver, Thomas, and Stephen. She gave it to Oliver and the heirs of his body, remainder to Thomas, remainder to Stephen, remainder to the right heirs of Petronilla. Oliver, Thomas, and Stephen all died without issue, and Robert, being the son of John, the son of John, the son of John, the son of Petronilla entered upon the said manor as her right heir. Richard and Katherine wished to enter on it in the right of the latter as daughter and heir of the said Stephen, but Robert asserted she was illegitimate.

Dispensation of Margaret de Prestewych. Fol. 78. b.

The Bishop has received letters from Augustine, Bishop Pennen: and Adrien:, late Penitentiary of Pope Urban VI., dated S. Peter's, Rome, vj. Kal. Feb., the third year of his Papacy, stating that a petition has been received on behalf of Margaret de Prestewych, woman, of Coventry and Lichfield Diocese praying for a dispensation on the following grounds. In her eighth year or thereabouts certain of her friends compelled her against her will to enter the Priory of Nuns of Seton, Order of S. Augustine, and to take on her the habit of a novice. She remained there as in a prison for several years, always protesting that she never had made, nor ever would willingly make any profession. And then, seeing that she must by profession be excluded from her inheritance, she feigned herself sick and took to her bed. But this did not prevent her being carried to the church, at the instance of her rivals, and blessed by a monk, in spite of her cries and protests that she would not remain in that priory, or in any other Order. On the first opportunity she went forth from the priory, without leave, and returned to the world, which in heart she had never left, and married Robert de Holand, publicly, after banns, and had issue.

The Bishop on enquiry found that these things were so, and by virtue of the authority committed to him, released her from the observance of the said Order or any other. Dated Heywod, 28th Feb. 1383, seventh Indiction, sixth year of Urban VI. Present:—ds. John de Uttoxhatre, chaplain, William de Hampton and John de Castre, clerks, and Nicholas de Ruggeley, literate, of Coventry and Lichfield and Lincoln dioceses.

Jun., the sixth year of Pope Urban VI, stating that a petition has been received on behalf of John de Halum and Joan, his wife, of Coventry and Lichfield diocese, praying for a dispensation on the following grounds:—The parties contracted a clandestine marriage and consummated it. Afterwards fears arose as to its validity because Joan's first husband had once received a boy of the said John from the font at baptism. A divorce would cause damage and scandal.

The Bishop having made enquiries and summoned the parties before him, granted them a dispensation, and declared all their issue legitimate, and in witness thereof issued letters patent under his seal, signed and subscribed by Master William de Neuhagh, clerk, of York diocese, notary public, and the Bishop's scribe. Dated Heywod, 13th April, 1384, the sixth year of Pope Urban VI. Present:—William, Bishop Pharen:, ds. John de Uttoxhatre, chaplain, and John de Weston, Coventry and Lichfield diocese.

Feb., the sixth year of Pope Urban VI., stating that a petition has been received on behalf of Thomas de Davenport and Agnes, his wife, relict of a certain Thomas de Davenport, of Coventry and Lichfield diocese, praying for a dispensation on the following grounds:—The said parties were publicly married, after banns, and afterwards discovered that the second Thomas was related to the first, in the fourth degree of consanguinity. The Bishop, after enquiry, dispensed them, and declared all their issue legitimate. Dated Heywod, July 14th, 1384, the twenty-fourth year of the Bishop's consecration.

Mary, Sarum, on the 31st of May last, granted a moiety of a tenth of all ecclesiastical benefices—otherwise granted conditionally in the last Convocation held in London—to make up the customary tenth, and to be paid at the Feast of All Saints next. Dated Heywode, 5th Feb. 1384.

Writ of King Richard, informing the Bishop that the Prior of Calewych has petitioned to be relieved of the collection of the tenth. There are in the Priory only himself and two Canons,—nor ought there to be more according to the foundation—and they are too feeble through age to labour, and too poor to hire others to labour for them, except for their necessities. If these things are so, the Bishop is to appoint another collector without delay and report to the Exchequer. Dated Westminster, 6th Mar., the eighth year of the King's reign.

ORDINATION LISTS.

EXPLANATORY NOTE.

The list of the first Ordination is printed in full. In subsequent lists the words "to the title of" and "to the Order of" or "to [all] Orders" are represented by a line, e.g. "Thomas de Schirley to the title of the House of Beauchief to all Orders" is printed "Thos. de Schirley—House of Beauchief—all."

Abbreviations are used as follows :—

For Christian and other names, the conventional abbreviations.

diac. or d. = diaconate.	O. = Order, Order of.
dio. = diocese.	p. = priesthood.
Fr., Frr. = Friar, Friars.	subd. or s. = subdiaconate.

The abbreviations or omissions of the original are not always extended or supplied. Abbreviations are chiefly in the titles of Religious Houses, or Orders, e.g. H.S.J. = Hospital of S. John, or James ; O.S.A. = Order of S. Augustine. The omission of the words "House of" must not be taken to imply that the title to Orders is given by Parochial Clergy.

Names of places or origin, e.g. "de Schirley," "of Litherpoll," are printed as in the original, except by inadvertance, or in the case of very well-known places.

In the printing of names of Religious Houses, no definite rule has been observed. The spelling of the original is given at least once, afterwards sometimes the ancient and sometimes the modern is used. A list of Religious Houses occurring in this Register is given in the Appendix.

The Editor's interpolations are enclosed in square brackets.

Also, that no one may receive on the same day one minor and one holy Order, or two holy Orders. Also, that no one who has not been examined by our Clerks specially deputed for this may approach. Commission to an Assistant Bishop, during the Bishop's pleasure.

The Bishop empowers Robert, Bishop Vosporien, to dedicate, reconcile, or consecrate churches, cemeteries, or altars, after first taking counsel with the Bishop about them; to minister orders both holy and minor, to properly qualified persons; to veil and consecrate Nuns; to minister the sacrament of Confirmation; to bless and consecrate chalices, patens, and priestly vestments; to enclose anchorites, to hear confessions and give absolution—except in cases of perjury in assizes and inquisitions in the secular courts; violation of the liberties and rights of the Bishop's churches and conspiracy against them; homicide, especially of clerks; and imprisonment of clerks—during the Bishop's pleasure. Dated Heywod, iij. Id. Jan., 1365, the 6th year of his Consecration.

Memorandum.—Because a doubt arose whether the said Lord William, pretending to be Bishop Bellenen., had been duly consecrated to the Episcopate by Apostolic authority, and the truth could not be known, the underwritten persons upon whom he had laid his hands were, for greater security, reordained conditionally—if, that is to say, and in so far as they were not duly ordained by the said William—on Saturday of the Four Times in the month of December by the Bishop Prisinen: to the titles before granted them.

The credentials of Robert, Bishop of Sevastopalis.[2]

Urban, Bishop, servant of the servants of the Lord, to our beloved son Robert de Hyntlisham, elect of Sevastopalis, greeting and apostolic benediction. Among the various anxieties by which we are constantly burdened, a specially pressing one is that the state of the churches committed by divine providence to our care may be both spiritually and temporally augmented. Over those churches which are known to be destitute of pastors and to deplore their vacancy, we study to set such ministers as shall by their rule promote this object. Whereas when William was presiding as Bishop over the Church of Sevastopalis, our predecessor, Pope Gregory XI, desiring that when it fell vacant a useful and fit person should be provided for it by the Apostolic See, specially reserved the provision for that turn to his own appointment and disposal; and whereas afterwards the said church by the death of the said William, which happened away from the Roman Curia, was left without a pastor,

[1] Notgrove, Gls.

[2] The Papal provision is given at some length because of the incongruity of its language with actual fact. Sevastopalis, whether in Pontus, Colchis, or Tauris, was outside the jurisdiction of the Pope, and there was not the slightest chance of its titular Bishop ever visiting it.

and it pleased God to remove our said predecessor from our midst before he had provided for it: we, who have been raised to his lofty place, the vacancy having been certified to us, and the decree of reservation being a bar to action in the matter by anyone except the Roman Pontiff, not wishing the said church to be exposed to the inconveniences of a long vacancy, in our fatherly care and zeal, after diligent deliberation with our brethren, have at length turned the eyes of our mind upon thee, professed of the order of Friars of B. Mary of Mount Carmel, and in Priest's orders, of whose religious zeal, scholarship, honesty of life and morals, and other manifold gifts and virtues we have been assured, and, after due weighing of all, have accepted thy person, and by the counsel of our said brethren do provide thee to the said church, and do set thee over it as Bishop, and commit to thee the pastoral care and administration, in Him who giveth grace and bestoweth rewards, trusting that, the right hand of the Lord assisting thee, the said church may be directed into prosperity and happiness under thy rule, and, the Lord giving health, may receive both spiritual and temporal increment. Wherefore we commit to thy discretion, as a charge laid on thee by the Lord, the care and administration of the rule of the said church; may'st thou so devoutly take it up, so healthfully carry it on, and so pursue it to its close, that the said church may rejoice that it has been committed to a fruitful administrator, and that thou may'st, beside the reward of eternal retribution, deserve to obtain the favour and blessing of us and the Apostolic See. Dated Rome, at S. Maria in the Transtiburine, iij. Non. Nov., the first year of our pontificate.

Letters patent of Philip, Priest-Cardinal of S. Susanna, stating that, in accordance with a mandate of Pope Urban VI, Friar Robert Hyntlisham of the Order of Carmelites, elect of Sevastopalis, was consecrated Bishop by John, Bishop Caven., Boniface, Bishop Nepissin., and Anthony, Bishop Scutaren., in the Church of S. John de Pinea, in the presence of the said Cardinal and the witnesses under written:— Master Ed. Bronfeild, monk of S. Ed. de Beri., O.S.B., Master in Theology, ds. Christopher de Maironibus, Licentiate in Decrees, Canon of the Church of the Prince of the Apostles in the city, and our Auditor, Friar Nicholas de Luca, Order of Carmelites, Master in Theology, Friar William Voappol of the Order of Carmelites, ds. Henry Volram, Canon of Voachen., Stephen de Voachen, Master in Arts, Friar William Brugg, Order of Carmelites. Dated Rome in the Church of S. John de Pinea, A.D. 1379, first Interdict, xj. Kal. Dec., the first year of the Pontificate of the Pope.
